Steel pact sought; union says firm in peril

By BILL WINTER
Staff writer

The United Steelworkers of America has told its members at Granite City Steel they need to help make National Steel profitable if it is to survive. Ways to further increase efficiency and decrease costs are being sought.

Buddy Davis, district director of the union, told the Press-Record/Journal Monday that intensive efforts are being made to obtain a contract agreement by March 31.

UNION OFFICIALS from Granite City are in Pittsburgh this month to participate in the bargaining. Unless a pact is obtained now, steel customers say they won't wait until the present contract expires July 31.

In the event the March talks fail, auto firms and other customers plan to buy steel overseas — unless domestic steelmakers take the costly step of stockpiling reserve supplies for them.

USWA letters, sent along with financial reports to more than 7,400 National Steel employees, said the firm is likely to have another year of losses which can "severely impede the company's ability to finance its aggressive capital investment program."

"NATIONAL MAY THEN be unable to demonstrate to lenders and investors that continued investment — vital to the company's future — would be a prudent thing to do."

"Without internal cash generation through sustained profits, and access to outside funds, the viability of National and all of its active and retired employees will be in real jeopardy during the next few years."

While not acknowledging the contents of the union's letter, Davis said the timing of a new agreement is crucial, if additional inroads by foreign steel suppliers are to be avoided.

NATIONAL OBTAINED USWA permission to send copies of the union's financial analysis to the company's salaried staff, Davis said.

Sale of its half of Granite City Steel, Great Lakes Steel (Detroit area) and Midwest Steel (Chicago area) is planned in 1989 by National Intergru Inc. NII executives last week told financial analysts and institutional investors.

The other half of the National Steel Corp. plants is owned by a major Japanese steelmaker, Nippon Kokan (NKK). Speculation is that NKK may purchase 100 percent three years from now but this has not been confirmed.

WHEN 50-50 ownership of NSC began in August 1984, it was agreed that neither NII nor NKK could sell its portion before September 1989 without the other's approval.

"NII for some time has made clear its desire to concentrate on less capital-intensive fields than steelmaking in order to produce greater returns on its investment,"

Ben Johampeter, Granite City Steel spokesman, said.

"We feel the three plants and our corporate and technical people work well as a team, with many synergistic benefits, and that they should not be separated."

"OUR GOAL continues to be to make National Steel the best and most efficient steel producer, regardless of who owns the company."

NII officials in Pittsburgh did not say why they chose to announce the future sale at this time.

After the announcement, NII stock rose in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

NSC OFFICIALS say they are making great strides in improving steel quality — progress they regard as essential to compete worldwide.

Despite such gains, the sixth largest American producer has found it hard to operate at a profit because steel prices are lower than the cost of producing it.

An $80 million loss was incurred in 1985, shared equally by NKK and NII.

ALTHOUGH there was a plan in February 1984 to sell NSC to U.S. Steel Corp., the largest domestic steel firm, Johampeter takes the view that "we have no desire to be part of any other steel company."

"Gains in efficiency can best be accomplished with the technology of the best steelmaker in the world, NKK."

Library receives branch location funds

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Library officials plan to break ground for a new branch library at 2145 Johnson Road on April 1.

A new Porta-Structure facility will be erected to replace the overcrowded facility located in the Central Christian Church building at 2020 Johnson Road. The church has allowed the library to use its facility since November 1984.

"GRANITE CITY is the only library outside Chicago that has been able to get two construction grants through this program," Secretary of State Jim Edgar said here Friday afternoon. As part of his office, he is the state librarian.

Edgar announced a $240,030 grant to aid in costs of building a library. The money amounts to 40 percent of constructing the new branch.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $600,075. The library will use $226,045 from its building fund and $134,000 from a Porta-Structure lease agreement.

"A LOT OF OTHER libraries would like to use money from this program, but they don't have the matching funds," Edgar said in Granite City.

Funds for the library grant are coming from a $3 million appropriation to the Illinois State Library through the Build Illinois program.

The new building will have 3,880 square feet and display more than 30,000 books. It will seat more than 65 adults and will include a circulation desk, carpeting, climate control heating and air-conditioning, shelving, tables, chairs and lighting.

The facility can be delivered and installed in a matter of weeks, without extensive land excavation, according to Porta-Structure specifications literature.

Early childhood teacher chosen

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

MADISON — Board members hired two coaches, an early childhood teacher and an aide Thursday night.

Gloria Smith was selected as assistant coach for track at the Middle School. Mark Jiles was named assistant boys' track coach at the high school. Mary Beth Orthal was employed as an early childhood teacher, and Angela Mallett was hired as an early childhood aide. Don Garrett voted no to all but Mallett.

"I cannot vote for these recommendations because I think this is against the policy manual. I am not against the persons recommended but I believe this should be the recommendation of the personnel committee," Garrett said. He approved of the Mallett hiring since it was discussed at an earlier meeting.

President Billie Bosworth said those suggested were already employed by the school district. "Therefore, I don't think board

Venice hearing on teacher dismissals

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — A public hearing on the honorable dismissal of teachers will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 13, at the Venice School District's board office.

The regular twice-monthly meeting will hold its regular meeting immediately following the hearing.

FOURTEEN FACULTY members will be sent honorable dismissal letters, Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said Friday. Teachers affected include 10 employed at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

VLTC is an adult vocational school which is financed with federal and state funds and administered by the Venice School District.

THE REMAINING four are employed at Venice Grade School. Those expected to be honorably dismissed have up to 17 years of service, Vickers said.

The board feels this action is necessary because of the uncertainty of continued federal and/or state funding, the superintendent explained.

School merger law changes

The General Assembly on March 5 overwhelmingly approved a measure that repeals several controversial parts of the 1983 school consolidation law.

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, said, "The provisions of Senate Bill 242 are designed to give back to local people the power to decide whether to consolidate."

"It is now up to the governor to sign the bill, which repeals forced merger of school districts." It won 99-10 in the House and 48-2 in the Senate.

ITS MAIN THRUST is identical to House Bill 2617, co-sponsored by Wolf, which would eliminate minimum school size requirements.

"We are repealing the inflexible numbers placed on Downstate schools, and replacing those enrollments with a minimum curriculum that schools should be

Chamber declares Apr. 26 area clean-up day

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer
The annual Quad-City clean-up campaign, a project of the Community Betterment Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for Saturday, April 26.
Progress reports of each chairman were given at a meeting Friday at the Chamber office. The event will include Boy and Girl Scouts, businessmen, homeowners and school students who will participate from Venice to the outskirts of Mitchell.

IN ADDITION to the day-long collection of trash and debris, each city will have dumpsters located at specific places.
Area residents will be able to deposit large items that are not normally picked up by local trash collectors. Mary Brown, general chairman, said.
Maureen Sampson is coordinating the Girl Scouts' role and said troops have been assigned to various areas for clean-up duties.
MEMBERS of the Beautification

Committee will work on the Jo Meyer Park at 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard and the 24th Street and Washington Avenue park, according to Mary Jesse, chairman.
Marilyn McKeehan, a member of the Community Pride Committee under the direction of the mayor, said members will work along the front of the Bellemore Village Shopping Center and collect trash along Nameoki Road in front of Coolidge Junior High School.
She added the committee hopes to have trees planted on the east side of Nameoki Road fronting the shopping center as a beautification project.

CAPT. JOHN SOUTH and Sgt. Maj. Kibler, representing the St. Louis Area Support Center, Granite City, discussed plans they have made to work along Illinois 3 adjacent to the installation. St. Elizabeth Medical Center plan to assist with trash collections around the former McKinley School and the Iowa Street triangular park directly across from the school.

Power companies want to drop CUB insert

Illinois Power Co. is joining seven other Illinois utilities in asking a federal judge for permission to exclude information provided by the State Utility Basis (CUB) from bills sent to customers.
The utilities are citing a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling in seeking relief from the requirement to include CUB literature with utility bills.
The General Assembly created the consumer advocacy group in 1983 and required utilities to include CUB flyers in their mailings up to four times a year.

"WE SHOULDN'T have to be made to associate ourselves with ideas with which we do not agree," said Ken Olson, a spokesman for Commonwealth Edison, one of the utilities that sued March 4.

"If you're selling a product, you don't want to put something out that is not in your best interests," he said.
The eight major utilities, serving about 96 percent of Illinois' gas and electric customers, asked the federal court to void the requirement.

Other utilities joining in the effort are Central Illinois Light Co., Interstate Power Co., Iowa-Illinois

Gas and Electric, Northern Illinois Gas Co., Peoples Gas and Central Illinois Public Service Co.

RAY HOLLMAN of Fairview Heights, CUB representative from the 21st Congressional District, said he believes the citizens group still has a number of options if the mailings must be stopped.

"The impression I get is that, according to the law, if there is a problem, a negotiation process will take place. It's possible we may have to go back to the legislature and see what else we can do," said Hollman, who was recently elected vice president of the CUB.

The utilities' request also asks for a preliminary injunction against enforcing the state law that mandates the flyers be included in utility bills. And it asks that those sections of the law be declared unconstitutional.

A U.S. Supreme Court decision in late February, in a California case, said state requirements to include consumer-group information in utility bills violated the free-speech rights of a utility not to speak.

More than four million flyers were to go out with February utility bills, and there have been about 25 million flyers since the program started.

County public aid staff honored

Illinois Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler has honored the Madison County Public Aid office for outstanding performance among offices of comparable size. He presented the award to the local office administrator, Ted Funkhouser, at a statewide management meeting held in Springfield.

The Department of Public Aid's local office performance indicator (LOPI) system showed Madison County had the highest average performance among the 22 Class V offices, those with over 120 staff members, during fiscal 1985. The Madison County office served 21,333 in December 1985.

Major activities measured are:
1) The prompt and accurate disposition of all applications for cash assistance, food stamps and medical assistance.
2) Timely redetermination of clients' eligibility.

3) Providing office management which supports a timely and efficient flow of casework activity and record maintenance.

In presenting the award, Coler said, "Local office administrators and staff deserve credit and recognition for operating an efficient delivery system which is capable of providing accurate, timely and fair payment to all those eligible for assistance."

Venice store has fourth winner in two years

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer
Luck in the Illinois Lottery is not restricted to the person holding the actual winning ticket, believe it or not.

In Wednesday's Lotto game, Bob's Red Fox Food Store, 420 Broadway, Venice, had its fourth winner in less than two years and will receive one percent of the value of the ticket-holder's prize money.

THIRTEEN PLAYERS matched the six winning numbers in the mid-week Lotto game. Each winner will share in the grand prize pool of more than $1.4 million, receiving a single payment of $108,462.

"We don't know who holds the ticket yet," Bob Boothman, Red Fox owner, said Friday afternoon. "But they (lottery officials) have confirmed I sold a winning ticket," he said.

The Venice grocery store has shared the winnings of four lucky ticket holders, at least on a percentage basis, for having sold winning chances.

TWO YEARS AGO next Monday, a ticket purchased at the store won $2 million for a St. Louis man who works in Granite City.

A St. Louis woman was a $100,000 instant winner in May 1985. In July, the store sold another winning ticket worth $370,000 to the lucky individual.

Asked Friday if his volume of business contributes to the good fortune of selling four winning tickets in less than two years, Boothman said, "No. I think it's because I donate to the church."

BOOTHMAN was serious. "I donated some hot dogs to the Boy Scouts the week before we had the $2 million winner. And last week I donated some things to St. Mark's Church."

In Wednesday's lotto game, an additional 442 players matched five numbers and will each receive $991. Matching four numbers were 11,625 players who will get $56.50 each. The grand prize in Saturday's lotto game was estimated at $5 million.

Pinchle lessons for Sr. Citizens

Programs and Services for Older Persons is continuing to offer seniors a chance to learn to brush up on the card game of pinchle.

Because of the interest in pinchle among area seniors, PSOP offers this free service so that more people can participate in a group.

The lessons are being taught by a senior volunteer every Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the PSOP office, McKinley School, 22nd and Iowa streets.

The office has moved to the upstairs level.

Ainad Oriental Band installs

John McGee of Granite City has been elected and installed as president of the Oriental Band of Ainad Shrine Temple.

McGee is employed by Wesco in St. Louis as a machinist. He is married to Donna McGee and has a stepson, James Krauskopf, age 16, and son, Patrick McGee, age two.

The Oriental Band held the annual installation of officers at the Polish Hall in Madison. After a social hour, Joseph W. Barnes Jr., potentate of Ainad Temple, and Orville E. Holmmer, Oriental guide of Ainad's Divan, installed the 1986 officers elected and appointed by the band.

Officers elected to lead the band in 1986 are: President McGee; Vice President Terry Groth, Freeburg; Treasurer Richard Staggs Sr., Granite City; Secretary Curtis Bosworth, Madison; Band Manager Terry Groth; and Band Director

Curtis Bosworth. Appointed officers are Chaplain John Simpson, St. Louis, and advisory board members Curtis Bosworth, Art Smith and Willis Price.

After the installation, a dinner was followed by an award program. Named bandsman of the year was Jim Ellington of Fairview Heights, and "Shriner of the year" was McGee. Curtis Bosworth was presented with a special gift. Also attending was Divan member Irvin C. Slate Jr., Ainad high priest and prophet.

The Oriental Band is one of many Shrine units that support 18 crippled children hospitals and three burn centers in North America. The band participates in many Shrine parades and various homecoming parades in Southern Illinois, and makes other appearances throughout the year.

Locher ordered to respond to defense queries

Madison County Special Prosecutor Bruce D. Locher has been ordered to respond to defense questions regarding his employment as Sangamon County public defender.

The order was entered by Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson in the case of bribery and conspiracy charges filed against James W. Barton, former county supervisor of assessments, in 1982.

BARTON'S ATTORNEYS contend Locher's duties as special prosecutor are in conflict with his duties as the Springfield area public defender.

Barton and four other defendants charged in a separate criminal case in 1984 also are seeking to have Locher removed as special prosecutor by means of a civil lawsuit.

The 1984 case is pending before Associate Judge Charles V. Roman Jr., with a hearing on motions set for March 17.

At a February 1986 hearing in the 1982 case, Locher refused to answer questions regarding his employment although ordered by Ferguson to do so.

Deadline for license renewal approaching

New, larger renewal stickers for 1987 must be displayed on passenger car license plates expiring in March by midnight Monday, March 31, Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced.

The new stickers, measuring 1x3 inches, are royal blue and should be placed in the designated area at the bottom of the rear plate.

"New stickers are twice the size of the current stickers," Edgar said, "making them easier to read and more identifiable for police officers."

In addition, owners of 1.7 million autos with plates beginning with the letters N through Z will receive newly designed plates this year, marking the end of the three-year repeating program for all 5.6 million cars in Illinois.

Pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to more than 347,000 owners who renew their stickers in March, and 177,000 owners who will also receive the new passenger car plates.

It is too late to send applications by mail and guarantee delivery of new plates and stickers before the March 31 deadline.

Collins appointed CD deputy

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — The nomination of Charles Collins as deputy civil defense director was approved last week by the City Council.

He will replace Joe W. Young Sr., who expressed his regret to Mayor Tyrone Echols at being unable to accept the appointment.

AS DEPUTY to Civil Defense

Director Ben Honorable, Collins will receive a monthly stipend of $75.

The new appointee is active in church and community affairs and serves as a recreational director with the Venice Park District. He also is Youth Department supervisor at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church.

Born in Madison, Collins has lived in Venice for eight years. He resides at 212 Hampden St.

COLLINS WORKS as a supervisor and driver at the Educational Therapy Center, 3201 E. 23rd St., formerly Lake School.

At the same meeting, the aldermen voted to continue supporting the Senior Aides program administered through Belleville Area College.

A $3,000 contribution to the program for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, was authorized.

Insurance pool may aid Park District

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — Skyrocketing costs of insurance premiums plaguing the Venice Park District may be eased somewhat through the combined action of 56 park districts in Illinois.

Arnold Johnson, park district manager, said many other districts throughout the state are facing the same increases in liability insurance costs as Venice.

"WE HAVE JOINED 55 other districts in an insurance pool and we hope to obtain much cheaper premiums at a group rate," Johnson said Thursday.

The Venice Park Board became fully aware of the problem while attempting to renew the district's liability insurance last year.

"We had $2,500 budgeted for insurance and the premium we were quoted was $25,000," the manager said.

LIABILITY INSURANCE premiums covering the new water slide in Lee Park were quoted at an additional $25,000, he said.

At that time some efforts already were under way by several Illinois park districts, which were attempting to organize in order to obtain group insurance rates, Johnson said.

The insurance issue surfaced again at the Illinois Association of Park Districts' annual convention at Chicago in November.

WORK ON the problem intensified after the convention, Johnson said.

"We're now in the initial phase of organization," he said.

The Venice district contributed $500 to join the Suburban Risk Management Insurance pool, along with 55 other Illinois park districts.

Jeff Boubeik of the Dolton Park District, near Chicago, is chairman of the newly-formed group.

DATA FROM EACH member district is being coordinated by Arthur J. Gallagher through a survey now being made to determine mutual and individual insurance needs.

Insurance packages — and quotations will be prepared and delivered to each park district before May.

If acceptable to the board, the proposed policies will go into effect June 1, Johnson said.

Group insurance policies being studied feature guaranteed premium rates extending over a three-year period, with a non-cancellation clause for the same length of time.

AN UPDATE on the insurance proposals and the construction status of the water slide will be discussed by park commissioners at Thursday's 7 p.m. board meeting at the Venice Recreation Center.

Most of the basic construction work is nearing completion, Johnson said. Fiberglassing the water slide is scheduled in the next and final phase. Construction started last July.

"This type of work (fiberglassing) cannot be done until the temperature is above 80 degrees," he said.

The slide, catch pool and bathhouse are being financed through a $200,000 bond issue which was approved by voters April 8, 1983.

Meeting Thursday to consider petitions

GRANITE CITY — The city planning commission will consider a petition which could mean another fast-food restaurant for Granite City.

A petition was filed by Donald Bridick of Madison to rezone property for construction of a Popeye's chicken restaurant, according to Rosalee Perigen, secretary of the commission.

The commission will meet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday, March 13, in the courtroom at City Hall to consider the petition.

Rezoning is sought at 29th Street and Madison Avenue from a single-family residence (R-3) district to central business commercial (C-4).

The commission also will consider:

A petition from Bonnie Maddox requesting property at 1640 E. 23rd St. be rezoned from R-3 to a C-4. It would be used for a trading company with wholesale and retail sales, showroom and warehouse with rental apartments.

A petition from Patricia Cook requesting property at 2898 Low St. be rezoned from R-3 to C-4. The property would be used for a laundromat.

A petition from M.H. Wolfe Co. requesting property at the 23rd Street railroad crossing be rezoned from R-2 to warehouse industrial (M-1).

—Petitions that properties at 2329 Gary Ave. and 2624 Pine St. be annexed to the city.

Bill would require smoke detectors

Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has just introduced legislation to require the installation by Jan. 1, 1988, and maintenance of smoke detectors in all new and substantially remodeled single- and multiple-family dwellings.

"Smoke detectors are a commodity that every household needs today. They can literally save lives if they are installed and have working batteries," he said.

"We in the General Assembly have seen first-hand what a tragedy can be caused from the lack of a properly working smoke alarm. The recent death of our much respected colleague, Sen. Prescott Bloom, brought that message home loud and clear."

Bloom was killed in a fire at his home in January. Investigators said smoke alarms had been installed but the batteries were not working properly.

"Many Illinois residents already have smoke alarms in their homes and many landlords have installed them in apartment units. Senate Bill 1582, if enacted, will encourage those who have not installed smoke detectors to do so before tragedy strikes," Vadalabene said.

Favors uniform national code on product liability

Gov. James R. Thompson has called for revision of a National Governors' Association (NGA) policy which supports the right of each state to set its own product liability code. He would replace it with a uniform nationwide product liability code.

In a letter to Florida Gov. Bob Graham, chairman of the NGA's Committee on Criminal Justice and Public Protection, Thompson said:

"The current liability insurance crisis facing the nation has become a top priority for many governors."

"This crisis has escalated to the point that it now affects all consumers through higher prices and taxes. It impacts, in a dramatically adverse way, the competitiveness of U.S. businesses."

Thompson said the nation's laws demand unattainable perfection and have resulted in higher product costs and, in some cases, the loss of U.S. ability to compete in foreign markets. In addition, skyrocketing liability suits have clogged the already overburdened judicial system, slowing resolution of lawsuits, he said.

"A uniform product liability code would promote prompt resolution of lawsuits and virtually eliminate the troublesome and costly variations from state to state. This would reduce the cost and time of all parties involved."

"It would help consumers better know their legal rights and product manufacturers their legal obligations. And it would ensure a speedy and reliable system of recovery for injured parties," Thompson said in his letter.

Lock closing delayed until March 18-20

A planned three-day closing for repair work has been delayed until 7 a.m. March 18 at the 1,200-foot main chamber of Locks No. 27, Granite City.

This is being done to coincide with closure of the Starved Rock Lock on the Illinois River, a spokesman said.

The 800-foot auxiliary lock at Locks No. 27 will remain open to traffic. All tows desiring multiple lockage through the auxiliary lock chamber must furnish their own helper boat assistance.

Ragsdale, Sterling vying for state Republican post

Harry J. Sterling, a Fairview Heights attorney, and Dr. Edward F. Ragsdale, an Alton radiologist, will challenge each other in the March 18 election for Republican state central committeeman from the 21st Congressional District.

Incumbent James Radden of Belleville is not seeking re-election. Although the March 18 voting is a primary, the state central committeeman's race will be decided in that election.

Sterling, 40, is married and has two children. He earned a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Illinois in 1967 and a law degree from Chicago-Kent College of Law in 1970.

His political offices and positions include precinct committeeman, St. Clair County Republican Central Committee treasurer and chairman, and campaign manager for several countywide campaigns.

Ragsdale, 47, is married with three children. He earned a bachelor's degree in psychology and chemistry from the University of Arkansas in 1960 and his medical degree from Washington University Medical School in 1964.

He has been a precinct committeeman in St. Louis and in Godfrey and Foster townships, was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1980, and has been Madison County Republican chairman since 1976.

The state central committeeman's post is non-paid. There is one elected committeeman from each congressional district in the state.

The state committee conducts the Illinois GOP convention, takes care of the Republican booth at the state fair, and runs the state party headquarters in Springfield and a fund-raising office in Chicago.

The committee also assists candidates at all levels of government, and assists in policy-making for the state Republican Party.

Both candidates have pledged to support efforts to improve the party and to carry the opinions and feelings of 21st District Republicans to the state central committee in Springfield.

Gonwa irked; union backs Walmsley

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff Writer

GRANITE CITY — Pat Gonwa can't understand why the AFL-CIO last month endorsed Gilbert Walmsley in the Regional School Superintendent's race.

She is one of four candidates in the March 18 Democratic primary; others are Walmsley, Harry Briggs and Jim Stevenson.

Walmsley has failed to meet with union representatives in the high school during the last four years, Gonwa said Saturday.

TEACHER CONTRACTS require monthly meetings with the union's elected building representatives, Gonwa said.

"He (Walmsley) claims he works well with teachers, yet he circumvents the contract," Gonwa said.

Walmsley disagrees.

Chamber to hear Thompson

Gov. James R. Thompson and former Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III headline the list of speakers at the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce spring legislative conference Wednesday, April 2, in the Holiday Inn East, Springfield. The conference will mark the first time in 1986 that both gubernatorial candidates will appear on the same program.

The two are favorites to win the Republican and Democratic nominations for governor in the March 18 primary.

"Politics and Economic Growth" is the theme of the annual conference, expected to attract several hundred business men and women from throughout the state. The conference gets under way at 8:45 a.m. and adjourns at 2 p.m.

Thompson will deliver the luncheon address and is expected to review the state's revenue picture and proposed new programs. Stevenson will examine the state's economy in a morning speech.

"Business Insurance and Tort Reform" is the topic of a panel discussion featuring these experts:

Harris endorses Astorian

GRANITE CITY — Police Chief Bill Harris has endorsed Bob Astorian of Granite City in the race for Madison County sheriff. Astorian is the assistant chief.

"I feel he has the education to back him up," Harris said. "He has FBI training and 24 years' experience."

HARRIS ADDED he has worked with Astorian for 22 years and feels he's the most qualified of the candidates.

"I know all the other candidates personally," he said, "and I think he's the best one for the job."

Acting Chief Donald Sandidge of the Alton police department has also endorsed Astorian.

"I meet weekly with a 15-member steering committee to discuss our problems and programs," Walmsley said. "I do more than the contract requires."

UNION PRESIDENT Russ Chappell of the Granite City Federation of Teachers said the terms of the contract allowed either teachers or administrators to call meetings.

"It's meeting by mutual consent," Chappell said. "We meet every week."

"I know both of them. They are very capable people," Chappell said. "I hate to get in the middle of this."

"He meets with the people he appoints, not those elected by the union," Gonwa said.

The AFL-CIO endorsed Walmsley after candidate interviews that were conducted Feb. 13.

James G. Douglas, principal, Douglas and Associates, insurance consultants, Burr Ridge; Jon Carothers, vice president, CNA Insurance Companies, Chicago; Daniel T. Morris, vice president, administrative services and risk management, Service Master Inc., Downers Grove; Robert Joyce, partner, Seyfarth, Shaw, Fairweather and Geraldson, Chicago; and John E. Washburn, state insurance director.

An ISCC staff panel led by ISCC President Lester W. Brann Jr. will discuss "The Impact of Legislative Actions on the State's Economy." Keynote will be A. James Heins, professor of economics at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana.

ISCC Board Chairman Chester K. Lasell will present a progress report on the group's Illinois Alliance for Economic Initiatives, a new program to improve the state's economic and jobs climate.

On the eve of the conference, Tuesday, April 1, the ISCC will present a 5:30 p.m. reception for legislators, also at the Holiday Inn East.

"I have worked with Bob Astorian over the years and personally hold him in the highest esteem," Sandidge said. "Astorian has a reputation as an excellent police officer and is known throughout the metropolitan area."

"GENERALLY, police officers don't endorse," Astorian said, "but I appreciate it, especially from my own chief."

Astorian, 49, is a 23-year veteran of the Granite City police force and has served as assistant chief since April 1, 1983. He graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the FBI National Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Harrison

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison mark 68th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan (Helen) Harrison, 2562 Cleveland Blvd., residents of Granite City for 60 years, observed their 68th wedding anniversary Sunday, March 9.

They were married on March 9, 1918, in Belleville and resided in Christopher, Ill., until 1926, when they moved to Granite City to make their home.

Mr. Harrison started working at the Granite City Ice and Fuel Co. in 1926 and left in 1947, when he received an appointment as a state auditor, a position he held until retiring in 1960.

In addition to his employment, he started a income tax business in 1937, when everyone was required to file federal income tax forms. He has continued this business and also has been a notary public for 67 years, becoming the oldest notary in the state in years of service.

Mrs. Harrison, an accomplished pianist, received her formal training at the Strausberg Conservatory in St. Louis. She played the piano at a theater in Christopher when silent movies were shown. After moving to this area, she served as pianist for the First Christian Church, now known as Central Christian Church.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are members of Central Christian Church. Mr. Harrison has served as a deacon at the church for many years.

They are the parents of three sons,

GC Parents Club elects officers

The vote was unanimous, electing: president, Jon Worley; vice president, Jane Maier; secretary, Lorene Oden; treasurer, Marge Farmer; membership chairman, Leroy Schaefer; adult chairman, Ray Liddell; family chairman, Dan Comer; community chairman, Jo Ann Svoboda; hospitality chairman, Elsie Mariette; friendship chairman, Mary Jo Mahan; ways and means chairman, Doris Hendricks; ethics and grievance chairman, Hassie Harrington; and publicity chairman, Carol Bellman.

Parents Without Partners is an international, non-profit and non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interest of a single parent and his or her children.

Those interested in joining are invited to be present at 7:30 p.m. March 26 for orientation as a prospective member. Courtesy cards will be issued for $5, entitling a person to attend all functions for 45 days.

Mrs. Alta Stewart is circle hostess

A monthly meeting of the EMB Circle of the Nameoki United Methodist Church was held in the home of Alta Stewart, attended by members Dorothy Luckert, Maxine Medders, Cindy Davis, Ruth Seymour, Virginia Carroll, Betty Weston, Helene Bischoff, Gail Wyatt, Alma Cowan, Norma Ridlen and the hostess.

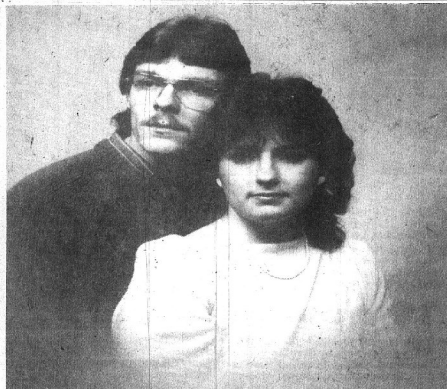

Alma Cowan presided and Dorothy Luckert offered opening prayer.

Norma Ridlen gave the lesson on "The Lenten Season." The United Methodist Women will have a mission study in April, it was noted.

A collection for the Least Coin was taken while Maxine Medders read "Bridges Are Reconciliation."

The March 25 meeting will be in the home of Cindy Davis, and Dorothy Luckert will give the lesson. The meeting was closed with prayer by Virginia Carroll.

Cooperation and leadership building region's strength

By J. THOMAS McNAMARA
"It's working."

That's the vision Earl Lazerson and Carl Mathias have for Madison and St. Clair counties.

With their foresight and leadership, the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois was formed by business, government, industry, education and labor leaders to promote jointly the economic development of the two Metro East counties in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

LAZERSON has served as the chairman of the council's board of directors, with Mathias as president. Lazerson is president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Mathias is assistant vice president of Illinois Power Company.

Recognizing the greater potential of joint efforts, instead of the two counties operating independently, everyone in the area is pulling together to effectively promote the east side of the Mississippi River.

Also, rather than allowing the Mississippi to serve as a barrier, the Leadership Council, in cooperation with the Regional Commerce and Growth Association (RCGA) in St. Louis, works to promote growth on both sides of the river.

LEADERS ON BOTH sides of the Mississippi are talking to each other now and are participating in projects which benefit each. Parochialism that used to be present is diminishing because of the new spirit of trust and cooperation.

Is it working? The answer is a resounding "Yes," if the comments from men and women involved directly in the council are an indication. Separate interviews with each indicated they believe it is achieving its goal of opening up new opportunities for growth in the area.

For this story, those interviewed were: Lazerson; Mathias; Mary Kane, executive director of the council; Celeste Stiehl, executive director of Belleville Economic Progress; William Durland, complex manager for Shell Oil at Wood River; James Pennekamp, president of the Alton Growth Association for the Alton and Wood River areas; James B. Watt, chairman of the board of Mid-America Bancsystem Inc., a bank holding company in Fairview Heights; and Bob Weis, business manager of Bricklayers Local 65 of Southwestern Illinois.

"WE'RE ALL HERE to create jobs and jobs know no district lines," said Stiehl. She cited several examples of how the cooperation of the two counties already is paying dividends.

The Forsythe Group and the Terex Development Corp. developments on the east side of the river are two examples of the council's success, she said. The multi-million dollar residential and commercial developments will create between 400 and 600 new jobs.

"The Leadership Council has gone beyond what I ever expected it to do," said Lazerson. "I felt we had to make the effort."

With Mary Kane on board, the organization is helping to develop the economy in the area," Lazerson added. "The important thing now is to institutionalize these efforts on a continuing basis."

"WE HAVE TO BEGIN developing leadership qualities in middle management people as well as top executives," he said. "An important factor in the council's success was the realization that we were losing industries and jobs. That realization made people begin talking to one another again."

"I don't care who gets the credit as long as activity occurs," said Mathias as he discussed his approach to the council's creation and development.

"What we hope to do with the Leadership Council is not to duplicate the efforts of others. We share information. We try to get the most for our limited dollars and resources," he said.

"Cooperation and coordination have been extremely gratifying," continued Mathias.

"EXISTING ECONOMIC development organizations including the St. Louis RCGA, Office of Area Development of SIU at Edwardsville, Economic Development Offices of Madison and St. Clair counties, Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, community cluster groups and others are lending the support of their staff people and financial resources to implement many of the council's economic development activities."

"We are also bringing labor, business and legislative people together to discuss the positives of the area and to improve on the negatives."

"If this cooperation and support continues, we'll see greater success for the two counties."

"WE HAVE ALL the attributes — transportation, a skilled work force, available land at reasonable prices, as well as livability. We have the small-town atmosphere with the metropolitan opportunities. I am really encouraged," Mathias said.

"I think we have also gained the respect of others. We're finding that the state is looking to us for information. We are becoming a stronger partner with the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and the RCGA in effectively promoting the region."

Kane indicated she felt the council is being evaluated from several points of view and the resulting conclusion is that it has been successful.

THE FIRST AREA is whether its existence has resulted in visible economic investment within the region, such as the successful Forsythe project.

The second area is how successful it has been in changing the attitudes and perceptions people have of the region from both within and outside its boundaries.

She said parochial interests still exist within the region but they are diminishing as people see the results of coordinated effort. It is her feeling that the council will continue to be a viable organization in the future.

William Durland, complex manager at Shell Oil, said the council took awhile to get going, but is solidly established now.

"IT IS DEFINITELY an organization that was needed by the area and the state," said Durland.

"It incorporates labor, business and industry working together. Development can't happen if there isn't this mutual effort. Labor and management are working constructively together toward common objectives for the area. The progress in the last year has been outstanding."

"We are recognized as an umbrella organization effective in getting new business into the area or expansion and retention of existing industry," said Durland. "The profile of Southwestern Illinois in the eyes of the state of Illinois is better now."

"THE LEADERSHIP Council is making the best of the assets the area has to offer. We are making progress in accentuating our assets over our liabilities."

"We as a company are involved because of what it means to our employees and the area. Economic development means more competitive services and jobs for us. The importance to the residents here is big. The bulk of the council's benefits are to our people."

To put the council's role into perspective, Durland said it is promoting the best the area has to offer and improving what it has. "I think we're doing well. There is excellent cooperation of the people, dispelling their fears as to the area's future as a place to live and work."

"SOUTHWESTERN Illinois is now to the point where we have a competitive region," said James Pennekamp, the Growth Association president, formerly executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

"The people must participate, however, for it to work."

"We must interact with each other and share experiences," said Pennekamp as he discussed the council's relationship to communities.

"The council's strong suit right now is in the business and industry recruitment area."

Another area where Pennekamp sees the council having a major role is improved relations between labor and management. "The Leadership Council is going to get better and better at developing a consensus and carrying that out in one voice."

"PRIDE IN THE PAST, Promise for the Future" is the slogan for Belleville Economic Progress, which Stiehl heads. "The council is changing the perceptions of southwestern Illinois by St. Louis area developers and influential leaders."

BOB CHURCHICH FOR SHERIFF

EMIL J. TOFFANT
SHERIFF OF MADISON COUNTY
ON HANDS OFF
EDWARDSVILLE, ILLINOIS
January 13, 1986

Dear Citizens:

My second term as your Madison County Sheriff will shortly end. I have tried and I believe, succeeded in keeping politics out of the Madison County Sheriff's Office.

I am a Democrat, as are most of our Madison County Sheriff's Office. I have succeeded in running their office free of undue influence and interference of the Madison County Democratic Party.

Recently, the Madison County Sheriff's Office, in closed-door sessions, have decided to take an all-out effort to gain control of the Madison County Sheriff's Office. I will maintain independence in the Sheriff's Office free of the interference and influence of a political machine.

A vote for Bob Churchich is a vote to keep Madison County a good clean place to live. I greatly appreciate the support you have given me in the past and I am asking that you give that same support to Bob Churchich on March 18, 1986, the Madison County election by voting for an Independent Democrat for Sheriff, Bob Churchich.

Sincerely,

Emil J. Toffant

Burglars damage property at site

Burglars cut a three-foot hole in a chain link fence and caused other damage at the future Air Products complex now under construction at 7 Northgate Industrial Drive, it was reported Friday.

A pry bar was used to gain entry to the main office building and a ventilator was damaged to enter the service building.

Two windows were broken and two interior doors and a wall also were damaged. Nothing was immediately reported to be missing.

The intruders attempted to enter the construction trailer of M & H Electric Co., parked nearby. A padlock was pried off and a door was damaged.

Those responsible apparently reached inside the trailer and removed some light fixtures, but left them on the ground.

2 ARRESTED FOR BATTERY OF COLLEGE INTRUDER

When instructor Tony Wasson of Bridgeton attempted to break up a fight between two students Friday at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, both youths allegedly turned on Wasson and punched him.

Arrested for battery were James C. Kerby, 17, and a 16-year-old youth, both from East St. Louis. Kerby was released on a notice to appear at a hearing and the juvenile was released to a parent.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST 2

After an auto was halted at Madison Avenue and 20th Street March 7, Earl M. Ingram, 28, of 1427 rear Third St., Madison, the driver, was charged with illegal transportation of beer and driving while his license was suspended. Gary D. Lemons, 29, of 2016 Sken St., Madison, a passenger, was charged with illegal possession of beer. He was released at the scene after posting his driver's license to appear by April 11. Ingram posted $102 bail.

RIFLES TAKEN BY BURGLAR

Five rifles, a pistol, a video cassette recorder and jewelry were taken March 9 by a burglar who ransacked the home of Melissa Strief of 3112 Parkway Drive. An inventory is being made to determine what else was taken.

E. ST. LOUISANS CHARGED

Three East St. Louis men were arrested March 5 after numerous cartons of cigarettes were taken from Shop 'N Save, 3250 Nameoki Road. Rickie Millender, 34, was charged with retail theft, obstructing justice and possession of cannabis. Also charged with retail theft were Lloyd E. Millender, 28, and Paul L. Johnson, 25.

JEWELRY AND REVOLVER ARE TAKEN BY BURGLAR

In a burglary at the home of Mrs. Helen Amelung, 2123 Waterman Ave., March 7, jewelry and a .32 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver were stolen. Among the missing pieces were a gold watch with two diamonds, a gold chain ring with a diamond, and an antique necklace watch on a gold chain.

Bedrooms were ransacked and the contents of drawers were dumped onto the floor. Entry was gained by prying a door. The front door was left open and several items had been moved from their original places into the living room.

2 ARRESTED FOR BATTERY

Dean L. Gergen, 17, of East St. Louis and Christopher M. Jackson, 17, of Dix, Ill., were arrested March 8 for battery after they allegedly accosted Russell McDowell, an employee of Kroger's, 3401 Nameoki Road. Gergen also was charged with unlawful possession of alcohol.

DUI reports

ARREST FOLLOWS CRASH

J.B. Nichols, 55, of 2233 Dewey Ave., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage following an accident March 8 on W. Pontoon Road at Colonial Drive. It was alleged his westbound car swerved into the inside lane, colliding with a van driven by James Walker of 726 N. 27th Place.

Illumination for bedtime stories: 1/3¢

Electric energy makes possible a lot of wonderful things in our lives. It provides light. It powers an assortment of labor-saving appliances. It efficiently heats or cools a home.

Electricity is a manufactured product. It costs money to generate and distribute. To be a wise consumer is to understand both the cost and the value of electric energy. For example, operating a 100 watt light bulb for a half hour costs about 1/3¢. That represents the cost.

The value is determined by how you use the illumination that's provided. The decision belongs to you.

At Illinois Power we'd like to help you get the best value from electric energy. Our Marketing Advisors are available to answer your questions about energy efficiency in the home, in businesses, and in industry. There's no charge for this service.

28 GRANITE CITY JOURNAL—March 12, 1986

Steamboat trips focus on themes

The grand old gals of the Mississippi, the Delta Queen and Mississippi Queen, this year are involved in theme vacations to recognize many years on the river.

This is the 10th anniversary for the Mississippi Queen and the 60th year for the Delta Queen.

All fares are based on per person, double occupancy. From March 28 to April 25, cruises on the two paddlewheelers will feature Halley's Comet' discussions, films and exhibits. Fares range from $805 to $2,975 for a week-long cruise.

A weekend cruise from April 18 to 21 aboard the Mississippi Queen will highlight women in politics. Scheduled guests include Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole, Congresswoman Linda Boffe (D-La.), Lynn Martin (R-Ill.), Martha R. Seger, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System; Ann Richards, state treasurer of Texas; Betty Heitman, co-chairwoman of the Republican party and Lyn Cutler, vice chairwoman of the Democratic party. The cruise, which departs from New Orleans, is sponsored by GTE Sprint and Working Women magazine. Fares range from $240 to $900 with a registration fee of $250.

A Memorial Day/Civil War theme vacation departs from New Orleans on May 23. Fares for the three-night Delta Queen Memorial Day cruise range from $550 to $1,050. The Mississippi Queen's seven-night cruise fees range from $805 to $2,975.

Chefs from renowned New Orleans restaurants will be on board May 30 through June 23. Taste of the Mississippi cruises depart from New Orleans. Fares for the three, four and seven-night cruises range from $345 to $2,975.

The Great Steamboat Race departs June 23. Crew members and passengers of the two paddlewheelers compete to be first at the finish line at the Arch in St. Louis on July 4. Fares range from $1,275 to $4,675.

Cajun cook and humorist Justin Wilson will be on board the Mississippi Queen for three sailings. Each trip departs from New Orleans.

Mississippi Queen will celebrate 10th anniversary

Fares for a four-night cruise (July 21 to 25) range from $460 to $1,700. A seven-night trip (Sept. 1 through 8) will cost $865 to $2,975. The third cruise leaves Nov. 14 and returns to New Orleans on Nov. 21. Fares for this seven-night cruise range from $805 to $2,975.

Acapulco draws winter tourists with sun

Acapulco is a place where mountains meet the ocean in panoramic beauty and where beaches are filled with beautiful people.

For the person who wants to find warm temperatures, blue waters and an exciting environment to escape the dullness of winter, Acapulco is available.

There are many activities to enjoy: parasailing, waterskiing, deep sea fishing and night clubs.

Accommodations also are varied in Acapulco. The internationally-known Las Brisas has 250 private villas, 200 with private swimming pools. Each unit has a marble bath, refrigerator and terrace. The party is stocked daily with fresh fruit, bottled water and Mexican beer.

The Acapulco Princess features a lagoon which bubbles through small groves of palm trees. The center portion of the building is hollow, with the balconies overflowing with beautiful tropical flowers.

The 777-room hotel is surrounded by acres of golf courses and tennis courts. On the grounds is the Pierre Marques, also one of Acapulco's finest hotels.

Another popular resort is Villa Vera, which features cottages high in the hills overlooking the bay. There are 10 swimming pools, nine of them are private. The night life is active and varied. Visitors can experience night clubs, jai-alai and the Acapulco Center.

The center, which is practically a city in itself, has fountains and trendy architecture. Entertainment at the center includes dancers, bands, Spanish-flamencos, restaurants, discos and piano bars.

Because it has the best harbor on Mexico's Pacific coast, Acapulco, which is an ancient word meaning "in the place where the reeds were destroyed," became a bustling seaport as early as the 1500s. From as far away as China docked there to unload spices and silks.

For protection against pirates, Acapulco built a number of forts at the mouth of the bay. The San Diego fort was built in 1616, later destroyed and rebuilt. Today, it is a museum.

La Costa Del Sol rejuvenates Spanish tourism

Spain is enjoying a rejuvenated tourism industry and the Malaga coast, "La Costa del Sol," is one of the reasons for the success.

It's the Spanish Riviera, not only for American tourists but for European tourists, said Macareo Tamayo, public relations spokeswoman for the National Tourist Office of Spain in Chicago.

"La Costa del Sol, on the shores of the Mediterranean, stretches over 8 miles of sunny beaches, yacht harbors and quiet coves. Hills, mountains, lakes and forests also comprise the area."

"The area has well-developed tourist facilities, while maintaining old traditions of hospitality. Temperatures at this time of year range from the 60s to 70s. The climate and calm waters of the Mediterranean are well-suited for just about any type of water sport. There are yacht harbors and sailing clubs in most of the towns along the coast. Windsurfing and waterskiing in the vivid blue water are other popular choices. Fishermen can indulge in their hobby because a variety of gamefish, including swordfish, live in the salty waters near the coast.

Tamayo said La Costa del Sol has many attractions for visitors who are interested in archaeology, monuments and museums.

The capital, Malaga (population 326,839), is 336 miles from Madrid. The country, which was founded by Phoenicians, has a diverse past and its history is represented in several standing relics.

• The cathedral in Malaga is a national monument. It was built over an ancient Muslim mosque in 1529.

• The Gibralfaro Castle is a Moorish fortress founded by Phoenicians and reconstructed by the Arabs in the 14th century.

• The Alcazaba, a palace-fortress, was once a residence of Arab kings. The Roman theater, which is next to the Alcazaba, is another monument to Malaga's intriguing history.

All of these monuments are open daily for public tours for a no more than a nominal cost; some are free.

There are six museums in Malaga, including the Archaeological Museum inside the Alcazaba, features prehistoric, Roman and Arab rooms and an impressive ceramic collection.

In anticipation of every tourist's need, Spanish classes are offered at Malaga University throughout the year.

Accommodations throughout La Costa del Sol are varied, ranging from hotels to guest houses to apartments.

But some of the more interesting inns are the Paradores, a chain of renovated monasteries, convents and palaces owned by the government. Tamayo said the government, in an effort to preserve the structures, decided to make them self-sufficient.

Granada's Paradores inn once was a Moorish castle.

"It was the last Moorish castle before Isabella and Ferdinand took over Spain. They later lived in the castle," Tamayo said.

In all, La Costa del Sol has some 250,000 beds for tourists.

Visitors will find a plethora of shops - and there are as many bargains as there are shops. Some of the world's finest leather garments, shoes and purses come from this region. Leather skirts that could cost up to $500 in the United States are available for $100.

"Even Cabbage Patch dolls are less expensive," Tamayo said with a chuckle. Cabbage Patch collectors should note that the dolls cost about $12.

EVERY WEEKEND WE SAIL FOR HAMILTON. NO OTHER BERMUDA CRUISE COMES CLOSE.

We leave when it's most convenient: on Saturday and Sunday. And dock where it's most inviting: on Front St. in Hamilton. Right in front of Bermuda's loveliest shops, liveliest pubs and jazziest clubs. No other cruise line does.

THE CONVENIENCE OF A HOTEL. THE ALLURE OF A CRUISE.

Join us for 7 days and we'll take you there. Aboard the m.v. Homeric (Panamanian registry). Or the m.v. Atlantic (Liberian registry). The Homeric is the newest ship out of New York. The Atlantic is the second newest. Both sport yards of open deck space. Two splashy swimming pools. Larger-than-usual cabins. And attentive Italian crews to spoil you stem to stern.

THE FAIREST OF THE FARES.

Both are beautifully affordable. Pay full fare for two passengers in a cabin, and one or two others can share it for just $150 each. Early purchase discounts are available on Atlantic cruises. Money-saving packages are available from near and far. By bus and by air.

FREE BROCHURE.

So pick a ship, choose a week between April and October. And come be our guest. For a free brochure, write Bermuda Cruises, One World Trade Center, Suite 3969, New York, NY 10048. Then see your travel agent for the finest Bermuda cruises going.

Journal Readers Win With Movie Contest

This year, you don't have to feel like an outsider when the Oscars are handed out.

Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis is sponsoring the Great Academy Award Guessing Game, in which Journal readers can win big on Oscar night, March 24.

Just pick winners in the top six Academy Award categories. List your guesses on the official entry blank and mail it in.

The following is a list of nominees applicable to the top six categories:

Best Picture: The Color Purple, Kiss of the Spiderwoman, Out of Africa, Prizzi's Honor, Witness.
Best Actor: Harrison Ford, Witness; James Garner, Murphy's Romance; William Hurt, Kiss of the Spiderwoman; Jack Nicholson, Prizzi's Honor; Jon Voight, Runaway Train.
Best Actress: Anne Bancroft, Agnes of God; Whoopi Goldberg, The Color Purple; Jessica Lange, Sweet Dreams; Geraldine Page, The Trip to Bountiful; Meryl Streep, Out of Africa.
Best Supporting Actor: Don Ameche, Cocoon; Klaus Maria Brandauer, Out of Africa; William Hickey, Prizzi's Honor; Robert Loggia, Jagged Edge; Eric Roberts, Runaway Train.
Best Supporting Actress: Margaret Avery, The Color Purple; Anjelica Huston, Prizzi's Honor; Amy Madigan, Twice in a Lifetime; Meg Tilly, Agnes of God; Oprah Winfrey, The Color Purple.
Best Director: Hector Babenco, Kiss of the Spiderwoman; John Huston, Prizzi's Honor; Akira Kurosawa, Ran; Sydney Pollack, Out of Africa; Peter Weir, Witness.

All entrants must be 18 years of age or older. Only one entry per person per household will be accepted. All entries must be handwritten in ink or typed.

Entries must be postmarked no later than March 18 for consideration. The winner will be announced in the April 3 Journal.

In case of a tie, the entry with the earliest postmark will be the winner. If more than one entry is correct and there are duplicate postmarks, then the winner will be chosen from qualified entries by random drawing.

Employees, family members and relatives of employees of Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis are not eligible.

The entrant who has correctly picked winners in the top six categories will win four passes for two to be used at any AMC Mid-America Theater, beginning with the first week of April through Dec. 31. That's a total of 40 free trips to the movies!

The prize is not transferrable and has no cash equivalent. Decision of the editorial staff is final.

Readers comment on movies

Editor's note: This week, we debut a different kind of movie review column in which the opinions of movie goers will be the focus. This new column will be included every week in the Entertainment section of your Suburban Journal.

Terry Diekmann of Melville on FX: "I liked it. It was really different. The story line was more involved than I thought it would be."

Mark Kupsky of Fairview Heights on The Hitcher: "It reminded me of Friday the 13th. The man (Rutger Hauer) never dies. It was sickening after a while."

Mike Laidlaw of Oakville on Rambo: First Blood Part II: "Very pro-American. Good film. Good theme. A little far fetched but I enjoyed it."

The following films have been recommended by Harry Hamm, movie reviewer:

Murphy's Romance
Down and Out in Beverly Hills
Wildcats
The Color Purple
Quicksilver
FIX
The Gods Must Be Crazy
Best of Times
Twice in a Lifetime

Out of Africa
The Trip to Bountiful
Iron Eagle
Kiss of the Spiderwoman
White Nights
Hannah and her Sisters
The Turtle Diary
Runaway Train
Agnes of God
Back to the Future
Brazil

* Denotes at least one Academy Award nomination.

The following films are not recommended:
The Delta Force
The Hitcher
Spies Like Us
My Chauffeur
Jewel of the Nile
Power
Youngblood
Nightmare on Elm Street, I and II
Eliminators

Movies to be reviewed include:
House, Hollywood Vice Squad, Pretty in Pink. The best bet for an upcoming release is Gung Ho, which opens March 14. The film stars Michael Keaton. Ron Howard is the director.

Poets share work at Wash. U.

Poet Joy Harjo, author of She Had Some Horses, What Moon Drove Me To This and The Last Song will read a collection of her poems at 8 p.m. on March 18 in Hurst Lounge, Dunker Hall at Washington University.

There is no admission charge.

Harjo will read her poems at 8 p.m. on March 17 at Duff's Food & Drink Ltd., 392 N. Euclid Ave.

Sharon Bangert, who recently received a master's of fine arts degree from the Washington University writers' program, also will read her poetry.

Admission is $3 and $2 for students with identification. Harjo's appearance at Washington University is sponsored by the department of English and the Women's Studies Program.

Customers get just desserts at Cabaret a la Mode club

Cabaret a la Mode has a pretty sweet deal for St. Louis. The Cabaret, 3224 Washington in the Grand Center, offers a unique theater experience to its patrons. Like dinner theaters in town, the Cabaret serves delicious food and entertains with a musical revue. But the Cabaret skips the main course and offers dessert.

Cabaret owners are Jim Semmelman and Barb Bressler, a zealous brother-sister duo from Dayton, Ohio.

"I'd directed and choreographed shows at the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music," Semmelman said, "and I wanted to work in show business, but I didn't want to go to New York."

He said he and several friends got together and discussed the idea of a dessert theater with musical revues for entertainment.

In August 1983, a dessert theater opened at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas to praise from critics and audiences alike.

In 1984, Bressler, teacher in the Special School District, contacted Semmelman and suggested he bring his dessert theater to St. Louis.

"I was looking for a new challenge," Bressler said. "A friend of mine, Ann Harbor, and I gave a huge party and served 55 of our homemade desserts and asked all the guests to critique each one. About 1/3 of our menu items came from the top favorites."

The menu offers such taste tempters as white chocolate cheesecake, chocolate toffee torte, fruity pavlova and several other items. Dieters also can find something on Cabaret's menu.

Alcoholic beverages, including ice cream drinks like "the Barbra Streisand" and "the Lena Horne," also are served.

The current show is Standing Room Only, a musical revue that Semmelman put together with music director and arranger George Kramer. It contains more than 100 songs representing over 39 Broadway shows, with old favorites like "Oklahoma" and "Climb Every Mountain." A new song by Kramer and Semmelman, "You," is dedicated to the audience.

For the youngsters, the Cabaret presents the Children's Peanut Butter Theater every Saturday at 11:30 a.m. Currently, 5 to 12-year-olds enjoy a sack lunch of peanut butter and jelly, chips, juice and a homemade cookie while listening to professional storyteller Janet Kiefer spin yarns based on legends and folk tales. Reservations are required.

In addition, the Cabaret is available to business meetings, fashion shows, industrial shows, and special speakers. Catering and take-out service also is available.

Overall, both Semmelman and Bressler are very excited about their project. Bressler emphasized that this is to be more than a bakery.

Ford bears 'Witness' to acting success

LOS ANGELES - A Hollywood studio executive once told Harrison Ford, one of the highest paid actors in the world, that he had no future in films.

"I was playing a bellboy," Ford says, "and he said I acted like a bellboy. He told me the story of Tony Curtis who delivered a bag of groceries in his first film and when you took one look at Tony Curtis, you knew there was a movie star. Well, that confused me terribly because I thought you were supposed to think there was a grocery delivery boy. We parted company soon after that."

Ford made the right decision. He received his first Academy Award nomination for his portrayal of a tough-minded police detective in Witness, a film that has received a total of eight Academy Award nominations.

However, Ford's identification with the role of Indiana Jones and Han Solo has brought him the greatest recognition. Those strong characters would have type cast most actors. Not so with the Ford. He has received good notices for films like Bladerunner, Hanover Street and Force 10 From Navarone.

"The commercial success of the Star Wars and Indiana Jones films was an opportunity to do something different from what I did in those films," Ford says. "After all, that's what attracted me to the life of an actor - the opportunity to take different challenges and meet new and interesting problems."

But Ford says success has caused one problem.

"I don't think I'm ambitious enough, although I'm ambitious in the sense that I want to do the best I can in every situation," Ford says. "I suppose, however, I've been robbed of certain kind of ambition I used to have by the success of my films."

The eight Academy Award nominations garnered by Witness (including Best Picture) was a surprise to many. But Ford says he understands why the film has been such a success.

"It's not a cop movie. It's not a love story. It's a combination of a lot of different elements brought together in something that is unique and has a life of its own," Ford says. "I was interested in its potential. It takes a director like Peter Weir (also nominated for Best Director) to make this such an individual film. I was looking forward to working with Peter Weir even though I only knew him through his films. What was interesting to me after we met and started working on Witness was the fact that we both had similar interpretations as to what kind of person my character should be. I think the finished product proves we were both right."

Ford is not a performer whose picture is consistently appearing in the press and who grants a lot of interviews, Ford says that goes along with his personality and his feelings about actors and publicity.

"Being asked to do interviews and things like that are part and parcel of having the opportunity to continue to do what I want. Without having a certain amount of success, I wouldn't have the opportunities I have. So it's part of the game. I don't enjoy being the object of attention most of the time. But it comes with the business so when I have an important film like Witness, I feel it's my responsibility to talk about it in a public forum."

And when Ford isn't working or granting interviews, he spends time at carpentry and woodwork.

"I still do carpentry, occasionally build a little bit of furniture or do some odd job around the house. I live a very normal life. I cut my own lawn, go grocery shopping, all of that stuff. I especially enjoy, I guess, woodworking. I especially like the work itself. I enjoy more than the finished product."

As far as the future goes, Ford will continue to choose his projects carefully. He did not identify pending projects, but he assured live theater on Broadway is not included.

"It's a different life completely," he says. "I don't have any designs in that area. I still have a lot to learn about film making, film acting. I don't want to direct movies either. It's too hard and takes too long. One of the things I enjoy about acting is that I can slide into a situation, work for about three or four months and be gone."

Yo-Yo Ma concert on CASA bill

Cellist Yo-Yo Ma will be in concert at 8 p.m. on March 17 in the main auditorium at The St. Louis Conservatory and Schools for the Arts, 560 Trinity Ave., University City.

The recital is co-sponsored by Metropolitan Life Foundation, under the CASA Corporate Partnership Program.

Before the performance, Noel Mages, a music theory instructor at CASA's collegiate division, will preview the program for 75 disabled and senior citizens. The special group attends CASA concerts under a Citicorp grant that provides for their full participation in arts events.

The program is also open to the Friends of CASA and will be held at 2 p.m. in the CASA concert hall. Refreshments will be served.

Sally Cruikshank will present her animated film

Animation festival set at Webster

Quasi Anita and Friends, created by award winning animator, Sally Cruikshank, will come alive on the screen of the Winifred Moore Auditorium at Webster University as part of a salute to modern animation.

Art in Motion: Animation '86 is the first festival of its kind to come to the midwest.

Dave Kinder, Webster's film series coordinator and festival director, said this is not the only animation festival, but it is special.

"The thing that makes this one different is that it is so extensive," Kinder said, "and it is being planned as a yearly event."

This year's festival will begin on March 7 and run through March 29. All films and lectures will be held in the Winifred Moore Auditorium, at 470 E. Lockwood Ave.

An animation workshop hosted by visiting filmmaker, Steve Segal, will be held in the Administration Building, room 218.

Segal and his partner, designer Phil Trumbo, will present Futurpolis, a wacky parody of classic science fiction, on March 7. The animated film chronicles the attempts of Egghead, a mad scientist, who plots to take control of the Universe with the aid of his mutation ray.

Other animation forms that will be on display include paper animation, puppetry, cut-out animation and "Claymation."

"Claymation" is the trademark of animator Will Vinton. Although the art of Claymation began in the mid-1970's, Vinton is probably best known for his recent commercial for Kentucky Fried Chicken.

In the commercial, a chicken evolves into a hamburger, an illusion that is created with the use of a non-hardening polystyrene plastic.

Vinton, Segal and Cruikshank are all visiting animators, but a lecture and reception on March 29 will feature some of St. Louis' animators. The program will focus on the independent and commercial aspects of animation.

Guests include Michael Long of Long-Shot Productions; Robert Campbell, an independent animator; and John and Joyce Ryan of Ryan & Friends.

Tickets are $3 general admission and $2 for children under 12, senior adults, Webster University students, faculty, staff and alumni. The three children's programs are $2 general admission and $1.50 for children under 12. Dates and times of films to be shown during the festival are listed below.

- 8 p.m., March 7, Futurpolis, with visiting film maker Steve Segal.
- 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., March 8, animation workshop with Steve Segal. Room 218 administration building. The workshop is co-sponsored by Legacy Products and supported by the Missouri Arts Council and the Missouri Department of Cultural Resources.
- 8 p.m., March 8, Claymation, with Will Vinton, master of Claymation.
- 8 p.m., March 8, artists and animators.
- 8 p.m., March 14, new Japanese animation will be presented with guest curator Charles Sami. The event is co-sponsored by the Japan American Society of St. Louis.
- 8 p.m., March 16, Quasi Anita and Friends, with visiting filmmaker Sally Cruikshank.
- 12 p.m., March 16, Len Lye: Retrospective, program for children.

Philharmonic to present concert

The St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra will present the third concert of its season at 8 p.m. on March 14 in Kiel Opera House, 15th and Market streets.

The program will include Ward's Jubilation Overture, Mahler's Symphony No. 1 in D Major and Lalo's Concerto in D minor for cello and orchestra, which will feature cellist Anne Fagerburg.

Fagerburg is a member of the St. Louis Symphony cello section. She has a master's degree in music from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. Concerts are financed through membership subscriptions and subscribers receive reserved seating for the entire concert series.

In addition, a limited number of complimentary tickets are available for each concert. To receive free tickets, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with ticket request to The Philharmonic Society of St. Louis, P.O. Box 591, St. Louis 63188.

For additional information concerning tickets or membership call 962-8734.

If their mobile phone service is a hassle to use when you leave St. Louis, they shouldn't call it mobile.

Sure, any cellular mobile phone will work any place there's a cellular network. If you call ahead and register. To do that, you have to give them a credit card number so they can bill you. And get two separate bills to pay.

Or, you can have Southwestern Bell Cellular Passport Service™. Then, aside from getting the best coverage and connections in St. Louis, when you get to Kansas City or Chicago you can pick up the cellular phone in your car and simply dial. Just like you do here. In fact, there are over 80 cities in the U.S. and Canada where you can get the best mobile phone connections in the business, just by lifting the receiver.

So, if your mobile phone service makes your mobile phone too much of a hassle to use when you leave town, get our unique Cellular Passport Service. From the only network in St. Louis that gives that cellular phone in your car the mobility to work where business takes you.

Feast on fish, it fits today's health diets

Seafood: An important part of health

The top trend among consumers today is their concern for health, diet and exercise. Seafood is becoming a more important part of good health today. Consumers want to stay healthy and fit. Seafood can help meet that goal.

Current research indicates that more and more nutritionally smart people are increasing the amount of seafood in their diets, the risk of coronary heart attack. Per capita consumption of seafood increased from 12.3 pounds in 1982 to 13.1 pounds in 1983, to 1984's figure of 13.6 pounds. These figures are on an edible weight basis, so the increase over a two-year period represents about one billion pounds of whole fish and shellfish utilized by U.S. consumers.

Salmon Steaks

- 4 (1/2 inch thick) salmon steaks
- Melted butter or margarine
- Salt
- Ground pepper
- Lemon-Caper Sauce

Place salmon on grid of broiler pan. Brush top side of fish with butter. Broil under gas flame until lightly browned. Season with salt and pepper.

Turn fish carefully. Brush second side with butter. Continue broiling until fish flakes easily when tested with fork.

Season with salt and pepper. Accompany with hot Lemon-Caper Sauce.

Makes 4 servings.

Lemon-Caper Sauce

- 2 lemons
- 2 tsp. capers
- 6 tsp. butter or margarine, melted

Pare lemons, removing all white skin. Cut on either side of membranes between sections. Slip out sections. Remove seeds. Chop pulp.

Add lemon and capers to butter. Heat through.

Seafood salad

- 2 cups cooked, flaked, white-fleshed fish
- 4 cups shredded lettuce
- 2 green onions, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cucumber, sliced
- 1/2 cup frozen green peas
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 cup grated mozzarella cheese
- Tomato wedges

Dressing

- 1 cup plain lowfat yogurt
- 2 tbsp. mayonnaise
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 1 tsp. black pepper
- 1 tsp. prepared horseradish

Combine yogurt, mayonnaise, dill, pepper and horseradish in a small bowl. Set aside.

Shred lettuce. Add green onions, green peppers, cucumber and frozen peas in 9-inch square dish.

Toss lightly with garlic powder. Place cooked fish evenly over salad greens. Pour salad dressing over fish.

Marinades:

Marinated pork roast

- 1/2 cup corn oil
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced carrot
- 1 clove garlic, sliced
- 2 tsp. rosemary leaves
- 1 tsp. fennel seeds, crushed
- 1 tsp. ginger
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 (2 lb.) boneless lean loin pork roast

In skillet heat 2 tablespoons oil over medium-high heat. Add onion, carrot, garlic, rosemary, fennel and ginger. Cook, stirring, 4 minutes or until tender. Remove from heat. Stir in remaining oil and wine. Cool slightly.

Pierce pork on all sides with long-tined fork. Place in sturdy plastic bag. Set in bowl. Pour marinade over pork. Close bag. Refrigerate, turning pork frequently, 4 hours or overnight. Remove pork from marinade. Place on rack in roasting pan. Roast in 400° oven 15 minutes.

Reduce heat to 325°. Roast about 2 hours or until meat thermometer registers 170° (about 35 minutes per pound).

Baste frequently with marinade, during last 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings. Each serving provides 360 calories, 31 gm. protein, 3 gm. carbohydrate, 6 gm. polyunsaturated fat, 4 gm. saturated fat, 105 mg. cholesterol, 115 mg. sodium.

Marinated potato salad

- 1/2 cup corn oil
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced green onion
- 1/2 cup white wine vinegar
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 tsp. chopped parsley
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 2 lb. small round red potatoes, cooked, sliced 1/2-inch thick

In large bowl stir together oil, onion, vinegar, wine, parsley, oil, salt and pepper. Add potatoes. Gently toss to coat well. Cover. Chill, tossing occasionally, several hours.

If desired, salad may be served warm. Makes 6 servings. Each serving provides 200 calories, 3 gm. protein, 27 gm. carbohydrate, 6 gm. polyunsaturated fat, 1 gm. saturated fat, 0 mg. cholesterol, 95 mg. sodium.

Fruit marinade

Combine 3/4 cup pineapple juice, orange juice, or mixed fruit juices; 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 2 tablespoons oil; 2 tablespoons ketchup and 1 teaspoon celery salt.

Use to marinate pork chops, ham kabobs, cube steaks, steak strips or chicken pieces.

Pork Garbanzo chow mein

- 1 (15 oz.) can garbanzo beans
- 1 lb. boneless lean pork, cut in thin strips
- 5 tbsp. oil
- 4 large carrots, sliced
- 8 stalks celery, sliced
- 6 green onions, cut in 1 1/2-inch lengths
- 6 cups fresh ginger root
- 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 tsp. crushed red pepper, if desired
- Chinese noodles (very fine noodles)

Drain garbanzos. Prepare marinade by combining soy sauce, garlic, sherry, sugar, cornstarch and vinegar. Place garbanzos in marinade while preparing other ingredients.

In large skillet or wok stir-fry pork in 2 tablespoons very hot oil until lightly browned. Remove. Add 1 tablespoon oil. Stir-fry carrots, celery and green onions with ginger slices 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, follow boiling directions on back of package for cooking noodles. Drain. Heat 2 tablespoons oil in 12-inch skillet. Place noodles in skillet. Fry until browned on the bottom, then stir or turn until browned throughout. While noodles are frying, add pork, garbanzos, marinade, chicken broth and crushed red pepper to vegetables in skillet.

Training, duties of nurses vary

By NANCY MACKLIN KOLESON

Member, 10th District Illinois Nurses' Association
Several health care personnel have the words nurse or nursing as a part of their title.

Examination of the various titles, responsibilities and educational preparation dispels some of the confusion surrounding these positions. A registered nurse successfully completes a program of nursing education and passes a state examination to receive licensure as a registered professional nurse.

The education can vary from an associate degree in nursing (ADN) at a community college to a diploma from a two- or three-year hospital-based school of nursing, to a four-year bachelor of science in nursing (BSN) degree from a college or university.

Graduates take the same state examination to become registered and then add the initials RN after their names. There are a few accelerated nursing programs in which persons holding a four-year non-nursing degree complete a one-year concentrated course, receive a BSN (bachelor of science in nursing) and write the state board examination.

Many RNs seek additional education. RNs with the associate degree in nursing or the diploma can complete a BSN.

Many registered nurses with a BSN complete a master's degree in nursing (MSN).

There are more than 20 universities in the United States that grant a doctoral degree in nursing either a doctor of philosophy degree (PhD) or a doctor of nursing science (DNSc). RNs may also complete baccalaureate (four-year) or graduate degrees in a variety of fields related to nursing, among them, psychology, sociology, biology, physiology or education.

RNs work in home health care, health departments, industry, public and private hospitals, in physicians' offices and as school nurses.

Some serve as consultants, some as nurse educators, and some maintain private practices. RNs are accountable for their actions, whether assessing and planning nursing care or implementing the orders of physicians for giving medications or treatments.

A second category of health care workers is the licensed practical nurse (LPN), called licensed vocational nurse (LVN) in some states.

The program of education for LPNs generally is one year in length and may be offered by a public school district, a hospital or a community college. Graduates complete a state examination for licensure. LPNs work in a variety of settings, are prepared for the technical aspects of nursing care, and work with the supervision of a registered nurse.

A third health care worker is the nursing assistant (NA), also called a nurse aide. NAs attend a program of three to six weeks and are eligible for certification. Proficiency may also be demonstrated by documentation of prior work experience.

Regulations regarding nursing assistants vary from state to state. NAs, supervised by RNs, work in nursing homes and hospitals, assisting with activities of daily living. This may include meals, ambulation, bathing and grooming.

Generally, RNs, LPNs and NAs wear name pins with initials for identification. If you are unsure of who your health care providers are, don't hesitate to request clarification about their names or job titles.

If you see letters after their names that you don't recognize, inquire. If you are curious about their educational background, ask. Many workers in nursing will be pleased that you did.

Senior Olympics at SIUE in May

The eighth annual Southwestern Illinois Regional Senior Olympics will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville May 9-10.

Sponsors of the Olympics are the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging and the university.

Women and men 55 years of age and older are encouraged to participate in this year's activities. Competition in nearly 20 different sports is scheduled.

The Olympics will include swims, walks, jumps, runs, dashes, golf, putting, basketball free throws, horseshoes, the discus throw, shot put, volleyball, bowling, spin casting, tennis, bike racing, billiards and table tennis.

Registration is $5 for in-region participants and $7 for out-region participants.

Applications and additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 1-692-3210.

Merger

offering to students," Wolf explained.
"SCHOOLS UNABLE to afford to offer required courses could fulfill the requirements by utilizing the services of a college or junior college or contract with a teacher from another school district.

"The bill lifts the requirement from current law that an elementary school district be contained within a single high school district," Wolf said.
"This bill was on the brink of becoming a political football, since the ideas for the bill were brought to us by gubernatorial candidate Adlai Stevenson, but common sense prevailed when it came time for a vote."

"The deadline for filing a reorganization plan with the state is extended by three months to Sept. 30."

Boatmen's to merge, operate in Illinois

The Federal Reserve Board has approved merger of General Bancshares Corp. with Boatmen's Bancshares Inc., giving Boatmen's the authority to operate in Illinois.

Donald N. Brandin, Boatmen's chairman, said plans are being implemented for integration of the two corporations immediately following March 31, the merger date.

BRANDIN WILL continue as chairman and chief executive officer of the merged corporation, whose board will be enlarged to include five directors of General Bancshares.

Edward J. Crane, president and chief executive officer, Ozark Holdings Inc.; John Fabick Jr., chairman, Fabick Tractor; Thomas J. Gullfoil, senior partner, Gullfoil, Petzall and Shoemaker; Richard S. Holson Jr., chairman and president, Guarantee Trust Life Insurance; and Richard A. Meyer, retired president of Anheuser Busch Inc.

The merger will create a multistate bank holding company with 44 banking subsidiaries and assets as of Dec. 31, 1985, of $9 billion, operating in 150 locations in Missouri, Illinois and Tennessee.

Not Just The Same Cock & Bull Story

Nothing adds zest to chicken and ground beef like RO★TEL Tomatoes and Green Chilies.

Now you can stop looking around for new chicken and ground beef recipes! If you like our Famous RO★TEL Cheese Dip, you'll love these new main dish ideas.

King Ranch Chicken

- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter (1/2 pound)
- 2 cans Cream of Chicken Soup
- 2 cans Cream of Mushroom Soup (10 oz.) can RO★TEL Tomatoes and Green Chilies
- 1 2 1/2-lb chicken
- 12 soft corn tortillas torn in bite-size pieces
- 1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese

Stew chicken with salt, pepper and bay leaf. After cooking, bone and cut chicken into bite size pieces. In a large sauce pan, cook green pepper and onion in margarine or butter until tender. Stir in soups and RO★TEL Tomatoes and Green Chilies. In 3-quart shallow baking dish (13" x 9" x 2"), arrange alternate layers (3) of tortillas, chicken, soup mixture, cheese, and ending with a topping of cheese. Bake at 325° for 40 minutes or until hot and bubbly and cheese is browned. Serves 10-12 and can be frozen before or after cooking.

South Texas Picadillo Meat Loaf

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef or ground chuck (or 1 lb. beef and 1/2 lb. sausage)
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 2 oz. canned pieces and stemmed mushrooms, drained and diced
- 2 tablespoons chopped blanched almonds, walnuts or pecans
- 1 large egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 oz. canned pitted ripe olives, drained and puréed or mashed
- 2 tablespoons dark seedless raisins
- 1 (10 oz.) can RO★TEL Tomatoes and Green Chilies, drained and puréed
- 2 teaspoons bacon drippings or vegetable oil
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 cup finely chopped onions or scallions

In a large bowl mix all ingredients except last three. In skillet heat drippings or oil and quickly sauté onions about 2 minutes (until translucent), add garlic and sauté for 2 minutes more. Add to meat mixture and blend. Form into a loaf on lightly greased baking pan. Bake in oven at 350° for 1 hour. 6-8 servings.

Send us your favorite original Ro★tel recipe for possible inclusion in our new cookbook and we'll send you a free Ro★tel recipe booklet with new exciting recipes.

Math counts

St. Mary - St. Mark students in math competition

EDWARDSVILLE — On Feb. 22, four students from St. Mary-St. Mark School participated in the "math counts" competition at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The competition encompassed the St. Clair area region. Grigsby Junior High and St. Elizabeth's School also competed.

Of 25 participating schools, St. Mary-St. Mark placed ninth. One student, Michael Harper, finished ninth out of approximately 100 students.

Four students and an alternate, Rachel Bathon, had been staying after school every week since November to prepare their coach and teacher is Jan Harding.

Niedringhaus students receive certificates

GRANITE CITY—Chapter 1 math students of Julie Matosian at Niedringhaus School received certificates of award and model cars from Principal Harry Briggs for exceptional math achievement.

John Rickert was recognized for achieving the highest level on daily timed drill tests. Mike Bishop was recognized for amassing the most points on daily computer and class assignments.

The Chapter 1 Program is the only program which is totally funded by the federal government. In Granite City, the program is directed by W. Richard Brinkhoff and supervised by Gary L. Pfoender.

Adkerson to address NCA gathering

GRANITE CITY—Sonya Adkerson, coordinator of pupil personnel services at Granite City High School, has been invited to speak at the 1986 meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the largest of the six regional accrediting associations that serve the nation. The conference will be held in Chicago March 23 through 26.

"The Nuts and Bolts of the School Self-Study" will be the topic of her presentation, in which she will share practical advice on conducting a comprehensive self-study in a large secondary school.

To maintain accreditation by North Central, schools must undertake a self-study and host a team visit at least once in every seven-year cycle.

Adkerson believes a self-study can provide an approach to revitalization of the school. She will give examples of a self-study handbook and a workbook for the visiting team along with other materials prepared during the Granite City evaluation.

The NCA annual meet is attended by 3,500 educators from the 19 states.

North Central provides evaluation and accreditation services to educational institutions. The membership totals more than 5,700 schools and 920 colleges and universities.

SONYA ADKERSON.

The annual meeting spotlights particularly effective programs of education. Granite City High School has been accredited since 1923.

Students may apply for academy

A new public school, serving students who have the potential to excel in mathematics and sciences, will open its doors to students from all over Illinois this fall.

Applications for the school can be obtained through the Granite City office of Rep. Sam Wolf, local high schools, or directly from the Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy offices, 1500 W. Sullivan Road, Aurora 60006-1039.

The Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy (IMSA), located in Aurora, was established last year by the Illinois General Assembly.

The three-year residential school will provide rigorous and challenging mathematics and science courses to outstanding students, along with a superior program in humanities, foreign languages, English, social sciences, and fine and performing arts.

Most graduates are expected to be qualified to enter a university at least as sophomores.

"Tomorrow's high-tech leaders are in our schools today," Wolf said.

"In some cases, our public schools can't offer enough math and science courses with enough depth to challenge gifted students. Through the academy, students will receive an extra margin of excellence to help them develop into the master minds of tomorrow."

Wolf said candidates for admission to IMSA will be required to take the scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), fill out an application, and submit recommendations from both a mathematics and a science teacher.

There is no charge to Illinois students for tuition, room and board, but students will contribute at least six hours of work and service each week.

For an application or more information, residents may contact IMSA at 1-800-247-4672.

BAC finance committee

$1 million GCC repair plan endorsed

A $1 million plan for repairing Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus was endorsed by the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees Wednesday.

The committee recommended repairs be financed from operating funds and the school's $2 million fund balance built up through piling expenses in the last few years.

Action on the repair proposal now advances to the full board, which meets in a study session March 12 and in regular session March 15.

Chancellor Bruce Wissore first presented the repair plan at the Board of Trustees' retreat Feb. 28. Major components include replacing the portion of the roof that leaks, repairing 16 rooftop heating and air conditioning units, improving drainage, resurfacing the existing parking lot, and refurbishing the library and entry areas.

Trustee Elizabeth Jenner's motion to endorse the plan and pay for it out of operating funds and the fund balance was seconded by Trustee Frances Braswell. Jenner, Braswell and committee chairman Larry Resneck all voted yes.

Student trustee Susanne Briggs also attended the committee meeting. The Granite City Campus is located at 4950 Maryville Road. BAC has housed its Granite City operation in the former Granite City High School North since 1983. It bought the building in 1985.

College officials and the Board of Trustees have known since they began using the former high school it needed some major repairs. Belleville Area College has three campuses, Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud, with an annual enrollment of more than 11,500 full- and part-time students. The 2,100-square-mile community college district also operates 18 extension centers.

members are in error to approve the selections.

"However, if they were new people applying for the positions, the applications would have to be studied first by the personnel committee."

A request from Lee McMullen, a school custodian, to take a week's leave of absence without pay April 21-25 was granted by the board.

John Falchiff, superintendent of schools, said three contractors inspected damage to a storage building at the administrative headquarters on Fourth Street and are to submit bids for repair work within a week. It was struck by a van.

He then gave a summary of an insurance survey noting areas where building changes or repairs are recommended.

Emergency lights are to be installed in upstairs halls of all elementary schools.

Ill, Bell, IBEW preparing for talks

GLASS SPECIALTY SYSTEM

AUTO & TRUCK GLASS REPLACED

mobile auto glass service

Illinois Bell and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) have agreed to begin contract negotiations April 16, nearly two months earlier than scheduled.

The company and union also agreed to move the expiration date of current contracts to June 28 from the original Aug. 9 date.

The IBEW represents 11,360 Illinois Bell employees or 76 percent of the company's union-eligible work force. These include most of the installation and repair technicians, switching center technicians, and employees in the marketing and sales, comptroller and data processing departments.

"The union recommended that talks begin earlier than scheduled," said Paul Downing, Illinois Bell vice president for human resources. "We studied it and concluded that several of schedule permits both the IBEW and the company to make better use of their resources during the negotiating period."

"This is the first year since 1971 that Illinois Bell will bargain full contracts, including wages and benefits, with bargaining units representing all employees," Downing added.

Prior to the breakup of the Bell System, major wage and benefit issues had been negotiated at the national level.

"Starting early with the IBEW permits us to extend the overall time available for bargaining," he said. "This will aid in achieving mutually satisfactory agreements."

The IBEW is among the unions which will begin bargaining with Illinois Bell on April 1. The expiration date of the IBEW contract with AT&T was moved forward to May 31.

ILLINOIS BELL will negotiate three separate contracts with IBEW units. The company also will begin bargaining on three contracts in June with the Communications Workers of America (CWA) and the Commercial Telephone Workers Union (CTWU).

The CWA represents 2,375 Illinois Bell employees. These include operators and salespersons companywide, and installation and repair technicians in the southwest part of the state.

The CTWU represents 1,000 employees in directory, marketing and customer sales and service operations.

Shocked by sticker price? Shock dealer with his cost

By JANET R. BURNETT
Madison County Extension
Adviser, Home Economics

When most people go shopping for a new car, they return home with an acute case of sticker shock. The average new car this year lists for nearly $10,000. However, when closing the deal, few people wind up paying the full list price.

To get the best deal on your new car, know what's included in the dealer's price and where you can shave off a few dollars.

Although it probably won't be itemized, the list price you see on the window sticker is made up of three hidden parts.

The biggest part of the sticker price is dealer's cost. That's what it costs the dealer to buy the car and bring it to the lot. Destination charges, the cost of getting the car from the factory to the dealership, are a part of the dealer's cost but may be listed separately on the sticker.

The second part of the sticker price is an amount that covers the dealer's overhead or the costs of operating the dealership.

Finally, the list price will include the dealer's profit margin.

The April issue of Consumer Reports magazine can help you arrive at a ballpark estimate of the dealer's cost. But if you want detailed information about dealer's cost and list prices, you can find it in several other publications available at the library or on the newsstand.

One good resource is a publication called Edmond's New Car Prices.

If you don't think you have the patience to digest all those facts and figures, Consumer Reports will do the job for you. For $10, they'll send you a computer printout showing dealer costs and list prices for the model you choose. For printouts on three different models, the fee is $25.

Check the April issue of Consumer Reports if you'd like to know more about this service.

It's a good idea to calculate both the dealer cost and the list price for the basic models and options you're interested in. Then add the destination charge to both estimates.

When you begin to negotiate with your dealer, you'll know what his cost was — and what his profit margin is. That will put you in a better position to bargain.

When you are ready to discuss price, ask how much more than the invoice price the dealer is asking. Not how much less than the sticker price he's offering.

A figure that's $500 below list price sounds like a good deal, but it still may be $1,000 above the dealer's cost.

New location

Help for firms only a call away

Business and local units of government can now obtain information on a variety of topics by dialing a toll-free number, according to State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

"The Teltape Information System, operated by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), provides interested persons with information on over 100 different programs important to business and governmental units," Wolf said.

"Callers can receive information on business financial assistance and technical assistance opportunities as well as information on local government programs."

Wolf said this program is another way of enhancing economic development in the state.

"We have to make it as easy as possible for governmental units, business and industry to find out how to get started on projects along with getting complete and expedient answers to their questions," Wolf said. "Through the Teltape Information System we can provide important information to those who need it."

Wolf explained a caller can request to hear up to six tapes on different topics during each phone call. At the end of the tape, a trained professional from DCCA picks up the phone to answer any further questions or the caller can leave a message for a DCCA employee to call back.

Brochures outlining topics available can be obtained at Wolf's district office at 1504 Johnson Road in Granite City or by calling the Teltape number, 1-800-835-3222.

State wooing Japanese companies

Gov. James R. Thompson last week conducted extensive talks in Japan with potential auto industry vendors and suppliers and toured the Mitsubishi plant most similar to the type to be built by Diamond-Star Motors Corp. in Bloomington-Normal.

"Many of these auto parts suppliers had a first-hand look at Illinois several weeks ago when they were hosted by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs," Thompson said. "Our latest discussions gave them an even clearer idea of advantages they would enjoy if they locate in Illinois."

We saw more than 85 Japanese companies in our short time in Japan.

"EVEN IF ONLY a few of these companies decide to locate in Illinois, this trip will be a major success and will have helped provide many jobs for the people of Illinois."

A 50-member trade delegation to Korea and Japan left Chicago Jan. 21, returning home Feb. 2. The group, made up of state officials, members of the General Assembly, business leaders and local officials, tried to strengthen Asian ties and to seek new business opportunities.

The governor and members of the delegation toured a Mitsubishi Motors Corp. plant at Okazaki with Yachi Nakane, president and chief executive officer at Diamond-Star. Diamond-Star is the company formed by Mitsubishi and Chrysler to assemble autos at Bloomington-Normal.

"Since the Diamond-Star announcement last October, we have worked with it in particular and the auto industry in general to keep Illinois' reputation as a new automotive center strong," said Thompson.

"FOR EXAMPLE, we have conducted regional meetings to encourage developers posted on our actions. We have hosted potential Japanese investors in Illinois and provided them with specific data on numerous Illinois cities.

"Further, we have pursued would-be auto parts suppliers in Canada, and we are conducting, literally, an exhaustive worldwide mail survey of auto parts producers to let them be a part of our emerging Illinois auto industry. Our visit to Korea can only further these efforts."

DCCA Director Michael T. Wolf said several agency officials with specialized knowledge of auto industry assistance, such as job training, were on the Japanese leg of the trip to offer their help.

"SINCE THE GOVERNOR took office, he has made a number of overseas trips because they yield results," said Wolf.

"We have already seen projects that will bring roughly 5,000 jobs and investments of $95 million to the state. We expect to see those figures climb higher."

While in Japan, the delegation also saw governmental officials, bankers and economic development representatives.

Haine assails salary of new executive

The hiring of a new executive director by the Bi-State Development Agency was "consummate arrogance," William Haine, chairman of the Madison County Transit District, said last week. He said the agency has lost its mission.

He wanted to move Bi-State into corporate status, pay corporate salaries and do it on the backs of the taxpayers. Haine said they've displayed consummate arrogance in the manner in which they've done it—in secret, in a public hearing with no public input, he contended.

A LONGTIME outspoken critic of Bi-State, Haine is blasting the hiring of Raleigh D'Amato of Vantage Development Agency as executive director. "I'm in no way criticizing Raleigh's expertise or abilities in transit matters, or reflecting on him personally."

"I'm concerned with the position and the money, not the man. Bi-State's board unilaterally has hired a director at an extraordinary amount of money — $100,000 up to $120,000 annually for a three-year period, plus some amazing 'perks' — and they've done it without any input from the funding agencies which represent the public."

"This is in addition to $375,000 annually which Bi-State pays a Cincinnati-based transit managing firm, a consulting group."

"HALF A MILLION a year being spent by Bi-State, which is maintained by state subsidies and whose source of revenue is presently declining, for a duplication of work is a disgraceful amount and it can't be justified," Haine said.

In a letter to Carl Mathias, chairman of Bi-State, Haine detailed his objections to the hiring of the new executive director. "Efforts to reduce the federal deficit will result in a reduction or elimination of federal operating assistance and possibly capital assistance to Bi-State," the letter said.

"LOCAL TAX SUPPORT for public transit in the St. Louis region will not rise in the near future, particularly in light of recent efforts taken by Madison County and local funding sources in Missouri to repay payments to Bi-State."

Haine said the primary bus customers are working people, many of whom cannot afford another means of transportation. He said Alton attorney, accused Bi-State of being "unwilling or unable" to deal with an impending crisis in the region's public transit system and said it "demonstrated disregard for its primary mission, public service."

He said a reporter, "Not a single thing has upset me as much with Bi-State as this has. In the past, I've been chiefly critical of its performance, their service, and still a dog that won't hunt — now, service is better in Illinois than in Missouri. If I'm upset, I imagine my counterparts in Missouri should be doubly incensed."

State's seedling program draws to close

The Department of Conservation's annual seedling sales program will end March 31.

Allan S. Mickelson, chief of the Division of Forest Resources, said seedling trees and shrubs are available to landowners throughout the state to provide wildlife habitat, control soil erosion, create windbreaks, and grow forest products.

"Seedlings from the state nurseries, by law, must be used for conservation plantings, and cannot be used for landscape, ornamental or shade tree purposes," said Mickelson. Persons who wish to plant trees for residential uses should contact commercial nurseries or other private sources.

We begin accepting orders in the fall and the seedlings are shipped in the spring for planting at that time," said Mickelson. "We have already processed nearly 2,000 orders and have sold out of some species."

This is the last chance for Illinois landowners who want to purchase trees to have a good selection of seedlings to choose from until next fall, he said.

Price lists and order forms, as well as technical assistance, are available through local Department of Conservation and Department of Agriculture offices or by writing the Department of Conservation, Division of Forest Resources, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Chrysler gets $500,000 training grant for auto plant

A $500,000 state grant will be awarded to Chrysler Motors Corp. to help workers at its Belvidere plant learn a new production process designed to streamline operations and reduce costs.

"This state grant demonstrates our commitment to helping an important employer maintain a profitable operation as the firm embarks on a long-range investment strategy that eventually could lead to expanded operations in Illinois," Gov. James Thompson said.

"Chrysler demonstrated its commitment to the Belvidere facility when the company announced it would retrofit the plant to build a new six-passenger auto there in 1987. In the meantime, Chrysler must take steps to keep the subcompact it now builds in Belvidere priced competitively with imports."

The grant will cover the ship-ment of the state's Industrial Training Program (ITP) administered by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. The ITP allocates general revenue funds to help Illinois manufacturers train new employees or upgrade the skills of existing workers.

Chrysler will use the grant to train 3,000 workers for "high-velocity" production lines which assemble autos with predetermined option packages. Currently, the Dodge Omni and Plymouth Horizon, which are built in Belvidere, can be ordered with a wide range of option combinations which complicate production steps and result in higher costs.

Chrysler officials say the streamlined production process will allow the company to offer lower-cost editions of the L-body Omni/ Horizon, subcompacts.

Season review

Warriors were winners

"Some men dream of things as they are and say why. I dream of things that never were and say why not." — Bobby Kennedy.

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

EAST ST. LOUIS — Granite City came within a game of reaching the Sweet Sixteen for the first time since 1971 Friday night, but the Warriors were swamped by a talented team from East St. Louis Lincoln.

The end of this superlative season came at 8:47 p.m. as the final buzzer sounded. The Warriors ended at 25-4. Two of those losses were to teams outside the Metro East area (Springfield Southeast and East Moline). The only other area team to beat the Warriors was Alton and the Redbirds didn't even make it out of the regionals this year.

"Right now, the only thing we can think of is this game and it hurts," Warrior Coach Don Deterding said Friday night.

"There is nothing that hurts more than losing. But maybe in a few days we can sit down and look back and see just what we accomplished this year."

Indeed, it was a season to remember.

The Warriors lost to a good team Friday night. A big team.

"I don't think anyone in the state plays as physically as Lincoln does," said Deterding. "I can't fault our players in this game. This (was) the best I've seen Lincoln play all season. They dominated the boards, they shot well and they didn't make as many turnovers as I thought they would."

The Warriors were a victim of a cold shooting hand. Granite City shot just 38 percent from the field (21 for 55).

"We did a lot of things we wanted to but we just couldn't hit our perimeter shots," Deterding said.

Still, it's too bad that in sports people only remember the last game. Everybody talks about the Cardinals' collapse in the seventh game of the World Series, but the great season of 1965 is an afterthought.

Granite City had a great season. When the Warriors opened camp in early November, Deterding knew he had to replace four starters.

With senior guard Joe Gray the only returner from last year's team that bowed out to Alton in the sectional semifinals, the Warriors were considered sleepers by some to repeat that performance.

But Deterding was not selling his team short.

"At the beginning of the season I thought we had a chance to be among the top three in the area," he said.

The Warriors, utilizing quick passing and deadly outside shooting, were on top of the area polls most of the season. Granite City registered the area's highest-scoring offense (79 PPG).

— Joe Gray was the quarterback who ran the offense. He was named an honorable mention all-state player.

Tim Hogan was the sharpshooter. For most of the season, he averaged close to 20 points. He, too, was an honorable mention all-stater.

— Jamie Hogan was asked to put his 6-1 frame under the basket and grab rebounds against players three or four inches taller. He was usually successful. (The Hogans were the first set of twins Deterding has ever coached.)

Tom Taylor. He wore a Patrick Ewing T-shirt when the Warriors wore their red road uniforms. He provided the inside muscle and points from the paint.

— Chris Veizer was the other senior starter. With each game, Veizer gained confidence and was a consistent player this season.

There were others. Each team had its role players. The main ones for Granite City were Steve Schatz and Kurt Luehmman.

Schatz was Mr. Quiet. No flash, just a good consistent player. He was the sixth man and was cool in a crisis. His free throws iced a win over Madison.

Luehmman often came in when Veizer was in foul trouble. He provided tough defense and points when needed.

The 1985-86 Warrior basketball team accomplished a lot of things no other Granite City team has done in a while.

On Dec. 27, they beat Madison for the first time in 13 years. The final season record was one of the best in the school's history, including that of the 1940 team that went 29-5 and won the state championship.

It was a season full of highs.

Granite City opened the season on Nov. 29 in Mt. Vernon at the Turkey Classic and carved up its opponents, winning all three games. Included was a come-from-behind win over Kankakee.

The Warriors would win five more. Along the way they blasted Madison 80-56 for their eighth straight win.

Granite City shot just 29 percent in a loss to Southeast before rebounding for two wins over Collinsville. One of the victories gave the Warriors a third place finish in the Schnucks Holiday Classic.

On Jan. 4, Alton shot 77 percent from the field but only won 85-80 over the Warriors.

Granite City rebounded to win four in a row including the second matchup against Alton at home on Jan. 24. After that game, Alton was never the same team and the Warriors proved something to the basketball community.

The next night, Granite dropped a road game to East Moline, but the Warriors rolled the rest of the way, winning 10 straight.

Along the way they never let go their share of the Southwestern Conference crown and won a second straight regional crown.

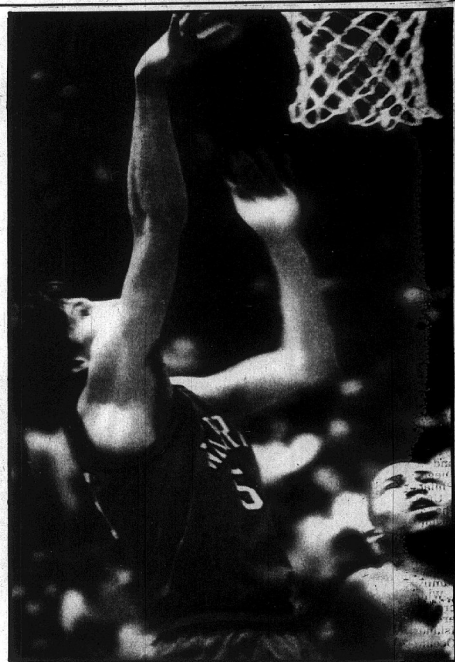

The win over Collinsville, despite a full-court shot at the buzzer, was the fourth over the Kahoks this season.

Granite City stormed past West in the sectional semifinals before playing Lincoln.

The Warriors were a happening this year. They united a city and a school like few teams have done. Attendance increased as the team flourished on the court.

So when we look back at the 1985-86 season, you must not focus on that final game, but on the season as a whole.

The Warriors had a great year and nothing should tarnish that.

Teutopolis wins state title

Teutopolis High School capped a perfect 33-0 season with an 82-45 win over Ohio Saturday night in Champaign to take the Illinois Class A basketball title.

Four of Teutopolis' five starters were in double figures as the Wooden Shoes became the fourth unbeaten Class A champion in five years. Lawrenceville went 34-0 in both 1982 and 1983 and McLeansboro was 35-0 in 1984.

Kevin Ruhoff had 21 points for the Wooden Shoes, all-stater Bob Zerussen had 18, Todd Kroeger 12 and Theo Hemmen 10.

Ohio, the smallest school ever to advance to the state finals with 70 students, finished 29-3. Brad Bickett scored 14 points to lead the Bulldogs.

In the semifinals earlier in the day Saturday, Teutopolis rallied in the second half to defeat Hoopes-East Lynn 58-43. The Cornjerkers entered the game as the No. 2 Class A team in Illinois, and they took advantage of numerous turnovers to take a 23-19 lead at halftime. It was the first time the Shoes had trailed at halftime all year.

Zerussen took charge in the second half, scoring nine of his game-high 19 points in the third quarter as Teutopolis took control of the game.

Ohio had pulled off the comeback of the weekend in the other semifinal when the beat West Frankfort 45-43 after trailing by 14 points after three quarters. Bickett scored 15 of Ohio's final 21 points in the game as he finished with 23. He made 15 of 20 free throws in the game.

Hoopes-East Lynn beat West Frankfort 68-58 in the third place game.

Going for gold

By ROBERT PYO
Granite City High School

"Higher, Faster, Stronger" is the motto of the Olympic Games and Steve McArthur, a senior at Granite City Senior High School, is trying to attain those qualities in his quest to make the United States Olympic Tae Kwon Do team.

Tae Kwon Do is a traditional Korean martial art and differs greatly from karate, the art with which it is often erroneously associated. Whereas karate involves primarily the use of hands, Tae Kwon Do employs both hands and feet and resembles kick boxing.

When Steve first became involved in the sport, he saw it merely as a means of self-defense. However, after placing in a tournament, he came to regard it as a sport and began to train for competition.

His efforts paid off. In all except one tournament, he consistently placed in the top three. McArthur was on the road to becoming a champion. All he needed was an opportunity to prove himself, and the state championships provided it.

The Illinois State Championships are held in Chicago annually. They are sponsored by various martial arts masters and are backed by both the United States Tae Kwon Do Union and the United States Olympic Committee. Any athlete placing in his contest (first, second or third) can then go to the nationals.

In March 1984, McArthur placed second in his weight class (119-129 pounds) at Chicago. He felt he could have finished first but he had "thought too much about the fight." Unfortunately, that year he could not participate in the nationals because of financial difficulty.

The following year, during the same month, McArthur again competed in the state tournament. This time, he placed first in his weight class. He then placed third at the nationals, which were also held in Chicago.

McArthur's winning streak continued in 1985. In August, he participated at the Junior Olympics at Iowa City, Iowa, and finished in first place. Only the athletes who placed at the nationals were allowed to compete at this event.

Because of his superior performance at the various competitions, Steve was invited to train at an Olympic Training Camp in Colorado Springs, Colorado, for one week in the October. At the camp, he learned new techniques and made acquaintances with people who had the same interests as he.

His accomplishments represent hours and hours of hard work. For example, Steve often undergoes three to four hours of training daily for six days a week. In addition, he maintains an astonishing level of academic excellence. He is in the honors program at Granite City High School and ranks in the top five in a class of approximately 650.

Madison 4th in 1st track meet

The Madison Trojans finished fourth in the 18th annual Charleston Indoor Invitational track meet held Saturday at Eastern Illinois University.

The Trojans finished with a total of 34 points to place fourth in the meet, their first one of the season. Geneva took the title with 74½ points. St. Ann was second with 47 points and Sullivan was third with 36.

Individuals who placed for the Trojans included Reggie Young, who won the long jump competition with a jump of 21 feet, 4 inches. Freshman Jesse Leonard finished third in the long jump with a jump of 21 feet, 4 inches.

Duane Hicks was second in the 60-yard dash with a time of 6.74 seconds. He lost to Deverin Hawkins of Cairo by one-hundredth of a second.

DeLaren Young was third in the 300-yard run with a time of 1:18.66. Theotis Kemp was fifth in the shotput competition with a throw of 42 feet, 4 inches.

The mile relay team of Joseph Starins, Oliver Walker, Otis Ware and DeLaren Young also finished fifth in the meet with a time of 3:42.11.

STATE CHAMPIONS. Theo Hemmen of the Illinois Class A champion Teutopolis Wooden Shoes shoots over Venice's Ed Ware in last Tuesday's Super-Sectional at Charleston. The Devils could stake a claim as the No. 2 Class A team in Illinois, because the Shoes won all of their other games this year rather easily, including the finals. But they barely got by the Devils 75-73.

Weeks kicks way to college

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

Who says advertising doesn't pay. Just ask Ryan Weeks.

The Warriors' senior placekicker signed a letter of intent last week to play football at Tennessee Tech University in Cookeville.

Weeks plans to major in mechanical engineering at the school. He received a full football scholarship to the University, an NCAA Division I-AA school with an enrollment of approximately 8,000.

He becomes only the third player from Granite City to receive a full football scholarship. The others include John Linhart (Western Illinois University) and Daren DePew (University of Illinois). Linhart is a junior at Macomb and DePew has since transferred to SIU-Edwardsville to concentrate on baseball.

"To receive a full athletic scholarship from a program that's rebuilding means that someone has taken notice of your conference and your team," said Granite City Coach Ron Yates.

"I think that's great. I'm so happy for Ryan."

Weeks, an honor student who carries a 4.6 grade point average on a 5.0 scale, visited the school in January and said he had narrowed his choices to Missouri and Valparaiso University.

"We sent out more than 50 letters," said Ryan's father Jerry.

Yates also sent 30 more letters out to schools informing them of Weeks' abilities.

Penn State University had requested Weeks as did some other schools, but that was the only response.

So Weeks, his father and a neighbor put together a 20-minute film. The movie showed Weeks' technique kicking 40- and 50-yard field goals from the left, right and middle of the field. It also showed extra point attempts.

Last season, Weeks was almost automatic on the PAT. He made 16 of 17 extra point attempts and connected on 4 of 7 field goals, including

HE'LL BE BACK. Jesse Hall drives to the basket against Teutopolis in last week's Charleston Super-Sectional. Hall will return for his senior year next season to lead the Devils, and he could be the best player in the area in 1986-87.

Devils will be back

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

A weekend in Champaign might have given the world, at least the state, the opportunity to discover Jesse Hall.

How he was left off the first team Class A All-State team is certainly a mystery. His performance in Charleston last Tuesday left no doubts as to his ability to rise to the occasion.

Hall had 35 points, nine rebounds and three steals as the Venice Red Devils fell two points short of knocking off the Teutopolis Wooden Shoes. But Hall's junior season should only be a preview of a senior year in which the 6-2 guard-forward could be one of the best, if not THE best, players in Illinois.

The Devils lose two starters off this year's 25-6 team which won the Dupo Regional and the Vandallia Sectional. Ed Ware's pinpoint outside shooting and uncanny knack for offensive rebounds will be tough to replace, as will Judicious Kizeart's defense. Other players who will graduate are guard Eric Owens, and forwards Willie Hollis and Roy Greer.

The prospects for next year would be bright if Hall were the only returning starter. But Vincent Harris will also be back to man one of the guard positions and Dale Turner, only a sophomore this year, could be a coming star.

Coach Clinton Harris said after the sectional semifinal win over Staunton that Turner had carried the team that night and, in fact, on a couple of occasions in the latter part of the year, Turner started the season on the junior varsity but came on and should emerge as more of a leader next year. He could be the focal point of the squad in two years when Hall is gone.

Wilfred Wigfall will also be looked to for a contribution and could be in the running for a starting spot next year. Only 5-10, he put in some of his best minutes of the season during the postseason. He hit three long jump shots in the third quarter of the Staunton game as the Devils came from behind to take command of that game.

Looking back on the season even before it ended, Harris said he had told his team they could advance far into the tournament when the season started.

"I told them in November that if we stayed together and played like we could, we could go a long way," he said after the sectional triumph. "Our goal was to try to get to Champaign."

They came within three points of accomplishing that goal. The Super-Sectional game with the Teutopolis was one of the better high school games the fans could hope to see.

A loyal group of Venice fans, the ones old enough to remember, that is, had to be thinking of Reggie Gardner's half court shot that sent the Devils to Champaign in 1975 when Hall launched his final desperation shot against the Shoes. Gardner sunk his shot against Carmi and the Devils went on to win it all in Champaign.

Somehow, the way they played against the No. 1 team in the state, the feeling is if the Devils had pulled it out, they would have had some fun at the Assembly Hall and walked away with the championship.

Pat McBride Soccer Camp this summer

If longevity is a measure of success, then the Pat McBride Soccer Camp deserves high marks for quality.

The camp has been instructing youths on the finer points of soccer for 17 years. Over 6,000 youths have enrolled in the camp.

Year 18 of the Pat McBride Soccer Camp will consist of five weekly sessions at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo. Boys ages 7-14 can choose one of four sessions beginning June 8, 15, 22 and July 6. An advanced session for high school boys is set for July 13.

Pat McBride, head coach of the Major Indoor Soccer League's St. Louis Steamers, has assembled a staff of coaches and professional and collegiate players. McBride is a two-time MISL Coach of the Year who played 10 seasons in the North American Soccer League. Joining him at this summer's camp will be Bob Brunette, who has coached the Busch senior men's team of St. Louis to two national Amateur Cup titles, and former NASL and MISL player Denny Vaninger. Current MISL players will make guest appearances and collegiate players will serve as counselors.

Facilities include grass fields and a lighted artificial turf stadium. Campers who stay overnight will be lodged in air-conditioned dormitories.

We're a family again...

When John, our teenage son, got into alcohol and marijuana, his whole lifestyle changed. He cut classes at school and when he did show up, he was often unresponsive. We seldom saw him at home. We kept blaming ourselves, we thought it was something we did in raising John. One night he almost died from an overdose.

The doctor recommended we contact Edgewood, the St. Louis area's pioneer chemical dependency treatment program. For the first time, professionals understood our problem. They know how to work with teens as well as with parents like us. Professional counselors and trained staff, many who have experienced our problem, provided an atmosphere of acceptance and understanding. Their experience added greatly to the recovery process that is vital to rebuilding lives ... and families.

We are a family again thanks to Edgewood.

SIUE eliminated by Wright State

The basketball Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville fell short of another upset Saturday when they fell to Wright State in the finals of the NCAA Division II Great Lakes Regional.

SIUE lost 77-73, ending their season at 23-7. The Cougars led 71-69 after a 15-foot jump shot by John Edwards with 1:58 left in the game. But Mark Vest of the Raiders, named the most valuable player in the regional, hit two free throws to tie the game, then the Cougars began to make critical mistakes.

James Jappa, who led SIUE with 20 points, made a bad pass that Andy Warner stole and took in for the go-ahead basket with 1:29 to play. Another steal resulted in a Joe Jackson dunk for Wright State to wrap it up.

Coach Larry Graham was questioned by some of his players after the game for going with essentially a one-guard lineup in the final minutes after Kenny Stanley fouled out. Graham had Jeff Hippen, normally a forward and not a particularly good ball handler, at the off-guard spot with Jappa at the point.

Graham was also questioned about leaving Stanley in too long at the beginning of the second half when the Cougars squandered a five-point halftime lead. Stanley, who played for Graham at Madison High School, committed four quick turnovers and two fouls as the Raiders rallied.

But Graham defended his strategy after the game and pointed out the Cougars themselves rallied to take the lead — briefly — with Hippen at guard.

Wright State led 65-59 with 6:04 left when Hippen came in. Wright State, the nation's No. 1 Division II team at 28-2, now moves on to host Cheyney State Saturday in the Division II quarterfinals. The Cougars had pulled a surprise on Friday when they upset No. 7 Lewis University 70-61 in the first round of the tournament. Jappa had 21 points in that game while Stanley added 18.

Bowling tourney sponsored by Koetting Ford

A bowling tournament to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be held at Granite Bowl, 3701 Nameoki Road, on Friday, March 14.

The event, called the "Granite City—Retailers Strike Force Challenge," is sponsored by Koetting Ford and Granite Bowl.

As the host retailer, Koetting Ford is asking other retailers to participate by entering at least one four-person team. A $25 tax deductible entry fee per team is required. Each institution may enter as many teams as desired. All full- or part-time employees, friends or relatives will comprise teams.

Each bowler is asked to obtain as many sponsors as possible from individuals or businesses for pins knocked down. Outright contributions will also be accepted.

One team member serves as captain and liaison between the team and MDA. The captain should send entry fee and registration form to MDA by March 5. Other responsibilities include distribution of sponsor sheets and dissemination of all information to teammates, as well as collection of pledges from all bowlers on his team after the tournament.

Prizes for the highest team point total are an engraved trophy; for highest team dollar total returned by March 31 are eight reserved tickets to a Cardinal baseball game; for the highest individual dollar total (over $500) returned by March 31, a Panasonic home computer with software; and for all individuals raising $35 or more, a Granite City Retailers Challenge T-shirt.

Free beer will be available to all

Tri-City Speedway open house March 30

Tri-City Speedway in Granite City will start its 25th anniversary year by holding an open house on Easter Sunday afternoon, March 30. All race drivers are welcome to come and try out their cars.

The speedway will start its regular weekly racing on April 5, weather permitting, with U.M.P. late model stock cars, sportsman's cars and street stocks.

Promoter Ken Kean has announced he will be promoting several special events such as the Mighty Midgets on Sunday

GCHS holds winter sports banquets

The Booster Club of Granite City High School is sponsoring award banquets for the athletes of the girls basketball, boys wrestling and boys basketball teams.

The first banquet, for the boys basketball team, will be held Wednesday, March 12, at 6 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The second banquet will honor the girls basketball team and the boys wrestling team and will be held Thursday, March 13, at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Students may pick up their banquet forms from Greg Patton, the high school's athletic director, or at the front office.

The Booster Club will provide the meat, beverage and dessert, but requests each athlete's family to bring a covered dish of vegetables or salad, large enough to feed eight people.

Unfortunately, effort alone does not bring success in the world of amateur sports. It also takes money. At all the tournaments, there is an entry fee for each event. In addition, there are the transportation costs to get to a tournament and then motel fees to stay there.

Furthermore, buying training gear also requires a considerable sum of money. Despite the costs, Steve said his parents are very supportive. They both drive him to the competitions and also give him a lot of moral support.

"I couldn't have done it (become successful) without them," he said.

What will the future bring for Steve? He said he will continue the sport at college. Furthermore, he must continue his excellence in the men's division. To this point, he has competed only in the junior division. To make the Olympic team, he must do equally well this year in the higher division. What will he do if he does not make it this year?

"I'll be back next year," he said.

Weeks

Boys of 45 and 47 yards. Of his 33 kickoffs, 11 were over the goal line, 11 were inside the 10-yard line and 11 were inside the 15-yard line. So it was no surprise that Weeks was named first team All-Southwestern Conference.

The movie turned some heads, including that of Tech's coach, Jim Ragland.

"He called at 8 o'clock in the morning and asked Ryan if he wanted to be a Golden Eagle," said Jerry Weeks.

"We are real excited about it and also like hitting the lottery."

Tennessee Tech is a member of the seven-team Ohio Valley Conference. The program is in a rebuilding process as Ragland is in his first year. He was an assistant coach last season.

However, Weeks will get to see the reconstruction first hand.

The Golden Eagles starting backfielder graduated and the candidate to take his spot has left school.

"The kid was a foreign exchange student from Sweden," Jerry Weeks said. "He came one day and the coach said he had been drafted and was to go back home. That left him without a kicker and that's when he called Ryan."

Said Yates, "It's a perfect opportunity for Ryan and I'm sure he will do well there."

Weeks is the son of Jerry and Sonnet Weeks of Granite City.

afternoons a little later on.

Also on the specials will be the USAC Silver Crown Dirt Champ Cars with the first to be on May 10. Also, sprint car specials will be held throughout the 1986 season. Many more promotions will be announced later.

This will mark the first time for the champ cars on the speedway with many of the top Indy drivers.

Christy Oliver, the 17-year-old stock car driver, will be competing in the weekly shows along with some of the top running late model drivers around.

Kean will have complete control of the speedway, including the concession stands and also has options to buy the facility.

Laser eye surgery center opens at SEMC

By BOB GILL

Thanks to a new service now being offered at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, area patients will no longer have to go to St. Louis for the treatment of certain eye problems. Three local ophthalmologists — Dr. Edward Doisy III, Dr. Michael Rumelt and Dr. Donald Schnellmann — will be the physicians using the latest technology in eye surgery — surgical lasers.

THE LASERS are housed in the new Laser Eye Surgery Center on the first floor of the medical center. "There have been vast advances in ophthalmology, eye surgery and eye treatment over the last 15 years," said Dr. Schnellmann.

"We literally can focus lights in different areas of the eye and use the energy of these light beams to perform certain parts of the eye to perform certain very delicate functions."

Although the medical center currently houses several CO<sub>2</sub> lasers for minor surgery and removing skin lesions, the two new lasers will serve specific purposes.

"THE ARGON laser is a thermal laser that is used in glaucoma surgery," said Dr. Rumelt.

"In addition, by directing the Argon laser beam through the pupil onto the rear of the eye, it can be used to treat abnormal blood vessels on the retina caused by diabetes or high blood pressure."

"The Argon laser can also be used to mend retinal holes, tears and leakages."

THE SECOND TYPE of laser is known as a YAG laser. "This laser is being predominantly used for treating scar tissue that develops following lens implant and cataract surgery," said Dr. Rumelt. "It's a safe procedure and helps to improve the vision afterward."

According to Dr. Schnellmann, the YAG laser will be necessary because of the extracapsular type of cataract extraction.

"This type of extraction deliberately leaves a small, protective membrane from the back part of the capsule of the lens. The YAG laser is most frequently used to make an opening in this membrane if it clouds up after surgery."

The laser, said Dr. Doisy, will improve treatment of these patients, particularly when cutting is required.

"IN THE PAST, we had to actually go inside the eye with a small knife and make the cuts," he said. "Now, the laser beam does the cutting. It doesn't cut the outside of the eye, only the membrane inside."

"There is no bleeding," added Dr. Rumelt. "The risk of an infection is minimal. It's generally painless. And the chances of complications are much less than with surgery done with a scalpel."

Almost all of the new procedures will be done on an outpatient basis. The doctor's office will make the necessary arrangements.

WHEN A PATIENT comes in, all he or she will have to do is stop at the outpatient department to sign consent and insurance forms, and then go up to the laser unit where the physician will be waiting.

Dr. Doisy believes convenience is another advantage of the laser. "Usually, there is so little disability from this instrument that people walk in, have it done, and go home right away," he said.

"The patient sits comfortably before the machine and a contact lens is applied temporarily for the treatment, which can take from five to 45 minutes."

"When the procedure is done, the contact lens is removed and the eye is irrigated gently."

"SOOTHING EYEDROPS are put in the eye, and the patient is discharged to go home."

"Most patients don't have any pain or need an eye patch."

"Every attempt is made to make these laser procedures safe, painless and convenient at the new Laser Eye Surgery Center."

Beware of 'diploma mill' nutritionists

Martha Malmberg, food and nutrition adviser for the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, will teach a local leader session on "New Food Products and Trends" at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 16 at the Farm Bureau auditorium, 900 Hillsboro Ave. (Route 157) in Edwardsville.

Malmberg will discuss new food products available today as well as consumer evaluation of cost, nutrition values, time preparation and taste acceptance. This seminar is planned as a training meeting for 55 Homemakers Extension Association lay teachers and anyone else interested in attending.

The local leaders will repeat the information in a one-hour program for their HEA units in February. The class is sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service as part of its adult education program in Madison County.

Recognizing quality in ready-to-wear clothing will be featured in the lesson "Quest for Quality," which local leaders will teach HEA meetings this week. HEA dates include Wednesday, Jan. 15, for the Venice/Madison HEA, 1:30 p.m. in the Venice Senior Center, Venice.

"Let us educate our children so that they will return to the community as responsible, contributing citizens."
